Workspace designed to stimulate people, provoke business and create relationships.

The Story: Creating Profolk

Stockport is going through a period of exciting change. The lack of true collaborative work space for new and small business led to the establishment of Profolk. Creative, technology driven workspace located in Stockports most exciting location, Market Place. Bank Chambers, one of Stockports most iconic buildings is home to Profolk.

The Space: Bank Chambers

Number 14 Market Place was built in 1868 for the Bank of Stockport by local architect T A Allen. The bank was later acquired by The National Westminster. Grade 2 listed, the building maintains many original features including stained glass windows, marble columns and three security vaults.

Stimulating People. Provoking Business.

Profolk provide beautiful, functional and flexible workspaces for individuals and companies to work, meet and host. The spaces we create allow folks to really focus on the work they love.

Our space has been imagined to provoke opportunity, creativity and boost productivity by allowing members to work differently.

Barriers have been removed – work where you want, when you want, how you want. The communal areas provide the ideal breakout space to meet people, host events or simply take a telephone call.

We want folks to innovate, create, lead and succeed. More importantly, we want folks to feel proud - proud of their spaces, proud of their achievements.
