NEW ENGLAND COMES TO OLDFIELD WAY

If you have ever seen the film 'Something's Gotta Give' with Jack Nicholson and Diane Keaton, set in The Hamptons, New York, you will appreciate the detailing that has been included in the refurbishment and EXTENSION of Stonecroft House, inside and out.

The once average 1950's facade was given a New England facelift in 2012 and enjoys the coastal influence of the Dee Estuary to set the scene. The cladding, window style, balustrades and slate roof endorse its American East Coast style whilst internally the white Shaker kitchen with its black granite work surface, marble island and cupboard latches distinctly reminds us of Long Island. Dark wooden floors and arches to the receptions rooms, edged with glass panels, complete the image.

Set at an angle to the plot, this home enjoys sun from mid-morning to sunset in the Summer and whether you wish to take advantage of the pretty rear garden or take in the views of the Welsh Hills from the front decking, you won't be disappointed.

In brief the property affords; entrance porch / utility area with w.c, open-plan kitchen dining room in a timeless shaker style, dining hall, lounge.
