BRIDGEMERE
MEWS

"There's lots of nature right on the doorstep.
It's such a peaceful spot; you wake up to birdsong in the mornings."

In the heart of the Cheshire countryside, discover a secret garden sanctuary, at No. 4, Bridgemere Mews. From the quiet country lane, pull through the sage-green gates, beneath a brick archway and onto the grey gravelled driveway where ample parking for six or seven cars can be found alongside a double garage. One of just eight homes in this discreet collection of barn conversions, once believed to form part of the Bridgemere Zoo estate, now lovingly reimagined as a timeless family sanctuary, nature still holds a prime place at No. 4, Bridgemere Mews, where the large peaceful private garden and quiet woodland setting serve as the heart and soul of the home.

Step inside and feel the calm settle. Natural materials and soft heritage tones run throughout: hardwood floors, exposed beams, warm oak. In the entrance hall whitewashed beams keep a light, fresh feel overhead, whilst ahead, glazed double doors offer green glimpses through to the garden from the lounge beyond.

COUNTRY CALM

FIRESIDE COMFORTS

Soft lighting creates a soothing ambience in the lounge, where white-painted beams feature once more, contrasting with the warmth of the handsome brick fireplace, framing the new Clearview log burner within. A grounding, quiet space for winter evenings, there is great versatility to the lounge, which opens seamlessly into the oak-framed orangery beyond, creating a wonderfully adaptable space, designed to evolve with the seasons and with family life.

INDOOR OUTDOOR FLOW

Bountiful and bright, the oak-framed orangery captures gorgeous garden views to three sides, whilst light streams in through the roof lantern above. Cosily carpeted underfoot, this warm and inviting space currently serves as a playroom, offering instant access out onto the patio and garden beyond. Returning to the entrance hall, turning right and passing the elegant staircase, discover the study on the left, a quiet space in which to work from home, with leafy views out over the garden to stoke the creativity.

FAMILY TIME

Next door, glass doors retain the light flow through into the versatile family-dining room, which also serves as a playroom and boot room entrance, with access out via a stable door to the garden at the rear. A practical and flexible space, conveniently served by the cloakroom across the entrance hall, where muted green panelling to the lower wall features, alongside a wash basin vanity unit and WC.

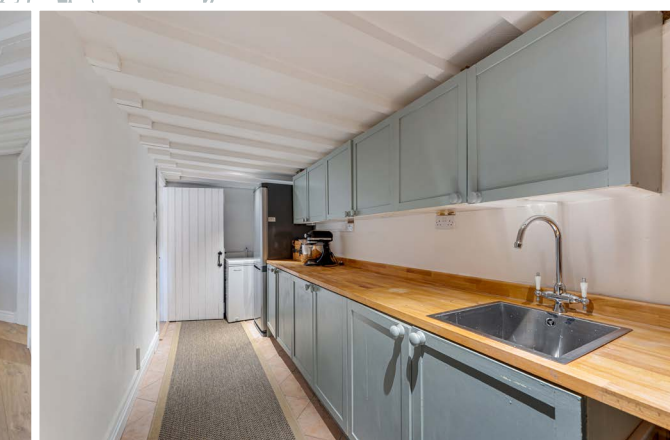

At the end of the hallway, light streams through into the dining kitchen from windows to both the front and side. Crisp grey-white shades are reflected in both the painted beams above, and the classic country cabinetry to the walls and within the quartz-topped central island, where breakfast bar seating offers the ease and convenience of casual dining.

WINE & DINE

With ample space for a separate dining table, the kitchen is a modern, sociable space, capably equipped with a dual fuel Ranger cooker and Belfast sink, alongside a dishwasher. Within the utility room there is space for a fridge-freezer, with plenty of storage space in the cupboards above and beneath the solid wood worktops. Back along the entrance hall, take the stairs up to the landing, where beams trace the lofty ridgelines of the ceiling above and where light streams in through a shuttered porthole window to the front.

BENEATH THE BEAMS

Seek sanctuary in the vastly sized master suite ahead, where freshly fitted carpet is plush and comforting underfoot. Balancing beautiful heritage features with a calm, collected, contemporary sophistication, beams embellish the vaulted ceiling above. Fitted wardrobes and built-in storage provide space for every item of clothing, including a media cupboard and a triple laundry/bedding cupboard. Refresh and revive in the newly fitted en suite with large walk-in shower, and Neptune tiling underfoot.

For the family, out on the landing, the main bathroom awaits to the right, characterful and classic with its traditional roll top bath, Old English wash basin, hardwood flooring, overhead beams and panelling. Continuing along the landing three further double bedrooms each display a unique collection of exposed beams within their vaulted ceilings, offering incredible views out over the rear garden. The furthest of these bedrooms, tucked privately away at the end of the landing, features another, stunning porthole window. For those with an eye to the future, there is still scope to explore further enhancements, subject to relevant planning permissions. The substantial footprint of the double garage could lend itself to a variety of uses, from a statement vaulted kitchen opening onto the garden, to additional living space or a bespoke media room.

SLICE OF PARADISE

Serving as an extension of the home's uncompromising comfort and welcome, the garden flows out from the indoor living space, wrapped by woodland on two sides, with a gently flowing stream marking its farthest boundary, and a post-and-rail fence framing the main garden without interrupting the views. A garden to lose yourself (and your cares) in, leave the stress of the working day behind and escape into the Edenic embrace of the garden, from sun-warmed sitting spots to dining terraces and shaded nooks beneath the trees. A summerhouse, currently serving as a children's den, provides yet another place to retreat, while a barked play area highlights the home's family-friendly essence.

With plenty of room for both adventure and relaxation: for games, for reading, for picnic lunches with the children basking in the sights and smells of the spring blossom, this garden is designed for the enjoyment of all. As the seasons turn, the garden transforms. Spring brings a confetti of cherry and apple blossom, followed by the rich greens and soft evenings of summer. Autumn floods the space with colour, while in winter, the snow-laced trees and hushed woodland beyond lends a sense of quiet calm. A haven for nature, ducks frequent the stream as birdsong carries through the air. Storage features alongside storybook magic, with a log store and shed found alongside the double garage.
