A pretty Victorian terrace of three homes on the highly sought after Addison Road that is found between Pewley Down and the Upper High Street. This stylish cottage is arranged over three floors with bedroom space on the top floor, living space on the ground floor and kitchen and dining space on the lower ground with direct access to the garden. There is a cleverly designed ensuite with WC and wash basin via a "Jack and Jill" arrangement and a full refitted stylish bathroom to the lower ground. Many original character features are retained throughout the property to include working fireplaces, cupboards and sash windows, along with plantation shutters. The kitchen is fitted with Shaker-style units, a marble counter and spacious Belfast sink. Bathrooms are well appointed with period touches and new flooring has been added to the entire ground floor. The property is heated by gas central heating, is partially double glazed and has the benefit of additional electric underfloor heating to the lower ground floor. It also features a private enclosed garden with patio and rear gated access.
