DESCRIPTION

Approached via electric gates, Lancaster House occupies an enviable and elevated position within Sovereign View, an exclusive development of just five substantial residences on the edge of the Battledown Estate. An imposing front door leads into a magnificent reception hall with vaulted ceiling and stairs to the first floor where the living accommodation may be found. The contemporary kitchen, which has a central island and large larder, has been equipped with Siemens appliances and a boiling water tap. The living accommodation has been thoughtfully considered to provide two seating areas and a formal dining space, all under a wonderful, vaulted ceiling and benefitting from the maximum of light through heavily glazed elevations. In addition, there is a separate sitting room opening onto easterly and westerly facing terraces, which wrap around the house providing space for a coffee in the morning and a gin and tonic in the evening. The ground floor hosts five bedrooms, all of which have en-suites with the principal and guest bedrooms enjoying dressing rooms. In addition, there is a separate home office, utility room and cloakroom. Lancaster House, which has underfloor heating throughout, sits in mature, private and manageable gardens.
