GENERAL REMARKS

Plas Thomas is a versatile smallholding with excellent potential, extending to around 23 acres in a delightful rural location within easy reach of the noted Lakeland town of Ellesmere. Plas Thomas comprises a substantial period farmhouse which, at present, is divided into two independent dwellings but which offers excellent potential for reinstatement into a handsome and imposing country residence with, to one side, an adjoining two-bedroom bungalow allowing multi-generational or guest accommodation possibilities, alongside parking and generous gardens.

The property sits within land extending to approximately 23.43 acres, or thereabouts, and features around 11 acres of pastureland contained within one principal enclosure, with the remainder given over to mature woodland intersected by Llanyfelin Brook.

SITUATION

Plas Thomas is situated in a pleasant rural location on the fringe of the hamlet of Dudleston yet still retains a convenient proximity to the Lakeland town of Ellesmere, which provides an array of amenities, to include Schools, Supermarket, and a number of independent shops, whilst also being within easy reach of the county centres of Shrewsbury, Chester, and Wrexham.

SCHOOLING

Within a short drive are a number of well-regarded state and private schools, including Ellesmere College, Lakelands Academy, Moreton Hall, Oswestry School, and Shrewsbury School, as well as the King's and Queen's Schools and Abbeygate College in Chester.

HISTORY

It is believed that Plas Thomas was originally an ancient half-timbered house which was surrounded by a deep moat, as outlined by Rev. F. Brighton in his book "Deeds of Dudleston". The original property is understood to have survived until the mid-1700's when it was demolished and re-built in brick with aspects of the original building being utilised in the works. The house was then extended, and a range of brick buildings added, in the early 1800's by Edward Dickin, with further changes made to the house in the mid-1900's by the present owners' family.

ACCOMMODATION

The traditional farmhouse is, at present, divided into two independent dwellings, each offering a generous amount of internal living accommodation situated over three characterful floors but with excellent potential for reinstatement into an imposing country residence befitting this uniquely captivating rural location.

PLAS THOMAS FARM

Occupying the west of the building and entered via a private courtyard into a traditional farmhouse kitchen which acts as the heart of the home and offers exceptional views over the pasture and woodland beyond, this leading through to a Lounge, Living Room, and Office, with a Wet Room, Cloakroom, and inner Hallway completing the ground floor accommodation, along with stairs allowing access to the Cellar. To the upper floors are four Bedrooms and a family Bathroom, all of which have been well maintained and are generously proportioned.

THE BUNGALOW

Adjoining the farmhouse on its eastern boundary and more modern in its construction, with thoughtfully designed, single-storey accommodation enjoying wonderful countryside views from the property's many vantage points whilst comprising, at present, a front Porch, rear Boot Room, two Bedrooms, Lounge/Dining Room, and Kitchen/Breakfast Room.

OUTBUILDINGS

Plas Thomas is served by two principal accesses, both situated on a quiet country lane with the first leading directly on, via a five-bar gate set within mid-level brick walling, to a substantial gravelled parking area, flanked by shaped lawns, located to the fore of the dwellings. A further gate provides vehicular and pedestrian access immediately onto a substantial concrete yard surrounded by the property's versatile outbuildings, these including:

LAND
