The Sought After Village of Nacton and Surrounding

Fenny Bentley is at the end of a private road with a footpath which leads to the former Amberfield school and back to The Street at Nacton. The position of this property makes this ideal for anyone with dogs or children. Also in the neighbouring village of Levington is a very popular and lively marina, livery stables and arena and public house. The Ship Inn is a well known 16th Century smugglers inn.

The property offers the absolute best of countryside living with its quiet secluded private location and completely unoverlooked south facing rear garden. Situated only a five minute drive away onto the A14/A12 interchange and only a potentially fifteen minute drive into Ipswich town centre, waterfront area and mainline railway station.

The delights of Nacton Shores with walks on the banks of the river Orwell alongside Broke Hall at Nacton is only a short walk away.

Nacton village furthermore can be accessed from both sides, in one direction within a five minute drive is the Ransomes Europark and retail with additional access onto the A14 leading straight onto the Orwell Bridge.

There is a David Lloyd Leisure Centre here plus a range of restaurants and pubs, John Lewis, Waitrose, B & Q and a number of other retailers.

Nacton has its own village hall with active social nights, craft events and quiz nights. There is also a pop up pub and farm shop with honesty box. There is an active cricket club with nets and the Victoria playing fields with play equipment ideal for children. The local Nacton Church of England primary school has a good Ofsted rating and is only 200 yards away. Furthermore, Independent Orwell Park High School with a total of 286 pupils is within half a mile.
