Small Dole is a small quiet village in West Sussex, lying two miles (3.2 km) south of Henfield. The centre of the village houses a pub, small convenience store and post office and a small industrial estate, plus a football ground and skate park. Henfield has a thriving high street, offering a comprehensive range of shopping facilities. Henfield also offers a wide range of amenities including health and sports centres, library, and leisure centre. To the East of Henfield lies the common and there are many varied countryside walks conveniently accessible including the Downs Link, a former railway line with its 36-mile footpath and bridleway. Nearby there is Upper Beeding village and the beautiful market town Steyning with a arrange amenities and the local primary and secondary schools. Hassocks is approximately 8 miles to the East which has a mainline railway station with services to London and Gatwick. Brighton is approximately 10 miles to the South-East and Horsham is approximately 12miles to the North. Both offer an excellent range of shops, trades, services, and entertainment facilities. Henfield is situated between the A24 (approximately 5 miles to the North-West) and the A23 (approximately 4 miles to the East) both of which give good access to the major routes in the area including to the M23/25 and national motorway network.
