"Architecture should speak of its time and place, but yearn for timelessness."

The architects of the late 1920's certainly were inspired by quality, style, space and light. Designing homes with family living in the forefront of their minds. This stunning three bedroom detached residence showcases a perfect example of this era with exceptionally well maintained accommodation positioned on the outskirts of the market town of Leek within delightful gardens, double garage, workshop and summerhouse.

Denise White Estate Agent's Comments

An elegant period house, believed to date back to 1924, situated just on the outskirts of this well-regarded town, convenient for all the local amenities.

The property is graced with many notable original features, one to mention is the stunning semi-circular designed bay windows to the rear of the house and a Tudor like facade. The property offers a most welcoming and graceful home enjoying spacious and versatile space and a high degree of natural light.

The accommodation is arranged over two floors, the property comprises; a drawing room with attractive fireplace and stunning bay window looking over looking the rear gardens, a spacious reception inner hallway with access to the first floor accommodation and a elegant sitting room with a wooden fireplace and double doors leading into a good size conservatory.

The breakfast kitchen has been fitted with a gas rangemaster oven and has an extensive range of base and eye level units with worktops over, integrated appliances and tiled flooring with under floor heating. The kitchen provides access out to the front porch and a large useful boot /utility room which is located to the rear. The boot/utility room is also fitted out with a range of wall and base units alongside integrated appliances with a door leading directly out to the garden. The ground floor is completed with an additional laundry room and a downstairs shower room, really useful for a property of this size.

The beautiful staircase leads to a spacious large landing, with the two front double bedrooms, one with double doors leading out to a balcony with a seating area over looking the garden, whilst the third bedroom is located to the front of the house and is also easily a double room. All the bedrooms are served by the family bathroom.

The property is approached from the road leading across a driveway to a good size private driveway at the side of the house. There is double garage with an attached tool shed and workshop over.

It is clear the current owners have a passion for gardening as the well maintained green lawns are surrounded by beds of flowering plants and climbers, bringing scent and colour all year round. It is a garden which invites wildlife and has seating areas to relax and simply enjoy the outdoor space. The gardens are located to the front, side and rear aspects of the house. There is a sizable courtyard patio seating area that wraps around the rear of the house, designed in a semi circular shape duplicating the bay windows of the property. The rear garden can really becomes a wonderful extension of the home during the summer months with space for drinks and dining alfresco. Secluded, sheltered and private it is could also be used on sunny winter days. The summer house provides a perfect spot to sit and read or even make into a lovely hobby room. Access can be gained from the top patio area into the workshop above the garage, where there is power and lighting connected. This could easily be converted into office space, a games room or even additional accommodation subject to any necessary planning consents.

Location

Located on the outskirts of the market town of Leek, within easy reach of all the local amenities.

Known as the 'Queen of the Staffordshire Moorlands', Leek is a former textile town with a long and fascinating history.

The unspoiled town center offers a refreshing alternative to from modern shopping malls and has a wealth of independent shops, including former silk mills housing antique and reproduction pine centers, as well as traditional and contemporary furnishings.

Delicious local produce can be found in abundance at traditional butchers, bakers, greengrocers, delicatessens and cafes. Leek is also home to specialty producers of condiments, confectionery, preserves, wine, whisky, craft beers and the traditional Staffordshire oatcake.

Traditional markets abound, both indoors in the beautifully restored Victorian Butter Market and outdoors in the Market Place, offering everything from general goods, antiques and collectibles to fine foods and special 'Totally Locally' Sunday markets. And when it comes to wining and dining, you can choose from a tempting selection of cafés, real ale pubs and restaurants.

Further afield, you'll find the unique, tooth-like rock formations of The Roaches, Rudyard Lake with its picturesque setting and narrow gauge railway and Tittesworth Water, a popular and accessible attraction for visitors of all ages
