Denise White Estate Agents Comments

Nestled in the picturesque Staffordshire Moorlands, Upper Moorend Farm offers a unique opportunity to own a versatile smallholding. This much-loved property includes a three-bedroom farmhouse, a range of traditional agricultural buildings, sitting in 10 acres (OTA) of land which, approximately 9 acres are agricultural land. Additionally, there is a steady income generated from two shepherds style huts/cabins, with potential for further expansion.

Ideal for those seeking a tranquil rural lifestyle, Upper Moorend Farm is conveniently located near the bustling market towns of Leek and Ashbourne, as well as the famous Alton Towers resort. The property appeals to a wide range of buyers, including those interested in improving holiday income, agricultural pursuits, equestrian activities, or simply enjoying the beauty of rural living.

The farmhouse itself is a charming detached property with plenty of character. The ground floor features an open-plan living dining kitchen, a cosy lounge overlooking the front garden, and a utility room. Upstairs, there are three spacious bedrooms and a well-appointed shower room.

The agricultural land, which surrounds the farmhouse on three sides, extends to approximately 9 acres (OTA). This provides ample space for various uses, including equestrian or agricultural endeavours. The property boasts extensive driveways for multiple vehicles, as well as beautifully landscaped garden areas with a delightful wild garden, flower beds, shrubberies, and lawned areas. A large polytunnel is also included, offering ample space for gardening enthusiasts.

In addition to the farmhouse and land, Upper Moorland Farm features versatile outbuildings. These include a large agricultural building, which has been divided to provide covered storage for tractors and larger vehicles, as well as a spacious 12 x 20 office/games room. There are also five stables, various storage areas, and hen sheds. The property's holiday income is generated from two well-maintained shepherds style cabins, which are advertised on popular platforms such as booking.com and Airbnb. There is also a separate shower block with two toilets and a utility room, with an additional construction underway.

Situated on a quiet country road, Upper Moorend Farm offers stunning views of the surrounding countryside and ample opportunities for outriding. Whether you're looking to embrace a rural lifestyle, expand your holiday income, or pursue agricultural interests, this exceptional smallholding provides endless possibilities.

Location

Cauldon is a charming village located in Staffordshire, England. It is now part of the parish of Waterhouses, situated in the Staffordshire Moorlands district. The village offers easy access to nearby towns and attractions, making it an ideal location for both residents and tourists.

The village of Cauldon is conveniently located just 8 miles away from the town of Leek. By car, the journey takes approximately 15 minutes, providing a quick and convenient commute. Similarly, the town of Ashbourne is also within easy reach, with a distance of approximately 9.34 miles, the drive takes around 15 minutes via the A52 route.

One of the major attractions in the area is the renowned Alton Towers Resort, which is only 4.6 miles away from Cauldon. The journey to Alton Towers takes around 10-15 minutes by car, making it an ideal location for tourists who wish to stay close to the resort.

Waterhouses, the nearest village to Cauldon, is situated in the southern part of the Staffordshire Peak District. It is located approximately 8 miles from both Leek and Ashbourne, making it a convenient midpoint between these two towns along the A523 road. The area is known for its stunning natural beauty, with notable features such as the Manifold Valley.

The Manifold Valley offers breath-taking views of Thor's Cave, the River Manifold, Dovedale, and Ilam Park. The valley was once home to the Leek and Manifold Valley Light Railway, now known as the Manifold Way, which ran to Hulme End. Thor's Cave, perched above the Manifold Valley, provides magnificent panoramic views and was formed thousands of years ago by underground streams flowing through limestone rock. Over time, the valley has deepened, revealing ancient cave systems.

Overall, Cauldon and its surrounding areas offer a perfect blend of natural beauty, convenient access to nearby towns, and proximity to popular attractions such as Alton Towers Resort. Whether you're seeking a peaceful village lifestyle or a base for exploring the stunning Staffordshire Peak District, Cauldon and Waterhouses provide an ideal location.
