Denise White Estate Agent Comments

Tucked away in the charming village of Rushton Spencer, Cheshire, Rose Cottage is a stunning traditional stone home that beautifully blends historic allure with modern comforts. This stone residence highlights its classic character through original features while boasting a contemporary interior equipped with all the necessary amenities for modern living. Beyond its visual charm, Rose Cottage prioritises sustainability, integrating eco-friendly technologies throughout its design. The property has landscaped gardens that have been lovingly maintained. Additionally, included in the sale is a piece of land known as "The Croft," approximately one-third of an acre.

The main residence has been thoughtfully updated, featuring a bright breakfast room and an open-plan kitchen diner that flows effortlessly through double doors into the main lounge. A separate sitting room provides a cosy retreat complete with an open fireplace, while four double bedrooms and two bathrooms offer ample space for family living.

At the heart of Rose Cottage is its commitment to sustainability, powered by an air source heat pump for central heating and solar panels with electric storage batteries for efficient hot water and electricity management.

Rose Cottage is more than just a residence; it embodies a harmonious blend of tradition, comfort, and a commitment to a sustainable future, making it an ideal setting for family life amidst the beauty of the countryside.

Furthermore, there is an option to acquire an additional parcel of land, approximately 6 acres, available for separate negotiation with a guide price of £65,000 to £75,000, conveniently located directly opposite and visible from the front of the house.

Location

Rushton is a parish in Staffordshire. The village within the civil parish, usually known as Rushton Spencer, is about 4 miles (6.4 km) north of Leek and 7 miles (11 km) south of Macclesfield, on the A523 road which runs between these towns.

Rushton Spencer is a sought-after rural village, which boasts some local amenities, in particular its own FIRST school, classed as "outstanding" by Ofsted, with the centres of Congleton, Leek and Macclesfield just a short drive away.

Macclesfield is a thriving market town that provides a comprehensive range of shops, varied social and recreational amenities and good schools for children of all ages. For the commuter, Manchester International Airport and its connection with the North West motorway network are approximately thirty minutes away by car and the railway station in Macclesfield provides fast and frequent Intercity and commuter links with Manchester, London and the surrounding business centers.

The historic market town of Leek is also with reasonable travelling distance, known as the 'Queen of the Staffordshire Moorlands', Leek is a former textile town with a long and fascinating history. The unspoilt town centre offers a refreshing alternative to from modern shopping malls and has a wealth of independent shops, including former silk mills housing antique and reproduction pine centres, as well as traditional and contemporary furnishings.

Located close to The Gritstone Trail and The Staffordshire Way which offer safe and beautiful walks to such destinations as Rudyard Reservoir and the National Trusts, "The Cloud". The village also has the popular Knot Inn & The Royal Oak public house and an excellent local bakery.
