Denise White's Comments

Nestled in the picturesque countryside of The Roaches in Staffordshire, this stunning, four-bedroom detached stone period farmhouse presents a unique opportunity for rural living along with income generation. The property features a large detached converted barn, currently divided into two cottages that serve as successful holiday rentals. Additionally, there are two shepherd huts, a static caravan, and a bell tent, all contributing to an attractive on-site rental income.

Arranged over two floors, the main farmhouse boasts versatile and spacious living areas. Upon entering through the porch, you are greeted by a charming kitchen/breakfast room, showcasing a traditionally crafted shaker-style kitchen. This well-appointed space features solid wood worktops, granite surfaces, an integrated dishwasher, a large range cooker with gas hob and extractor, ample space for a fridge/freezer, and a Belfast sink unit. A convenient side porch serves as a boot room, complete with a cloakroom and access to the outdoors.

There is a cosy sitting room which is characterised by a stunning exposed stone fireplace and a dual-aspect wood-burning stove that extends into the conservatory. An additional formal sitting room, which could also function as a ground-floor bedroom, features French doors leading to the outside. There is access to the conservatory which is a great size and overlooks the gardens and surrounding countryside. The staircase, located off the kitchen, ascends to the first floor, where a landing connects three double bedrooms. The main bedroom includes an en-suite shower room, while the other two bedrooms share a generously sized bathroom equipped with a heritage designed freestanding bath.

Accessed via a long driveway that meanders through the breathtaking countryside, the property is equipped with two gated entry points, leading to the main residence and ensuring convenient access to the lower section of the site, which includes the shepherd huts, static caravan, bell tent, stables, and a large outbuilding currently utilised for storage. Ample parking is available for both the main residence and the lower site, including hard standing options. The stables offer two spacious units with power and water, catering to equestrian needs.

The grounds surrounding the farmhouse are a delightful feature, adorned with an abundance of mature trees, shrubs, and well-stocked flower beds, including an orchard. Each holiday accommodation has its own designated garden areas, providing private and screened terraces. The property also boasts stunning views over the neighbouring Roaches, enhancing its appeal as a serene retreat.

This exceptional property combines a rural living experience with the potential for a lucrative rental business; all set against the backdrop of one of Staffordshire's most beautiful landscapes.

Location

Discover the breathtaking beauty of The Roaches, a prominent rocky ridge located above Leek and Tittesworth Reservoir in the Staffordshire Peak District of England. Rising steeply to 505 m (1,657 ft), this iconic landmark is part of a renowned gritstone escarpment that includes Ramshaw Rocks and Hen Cloud, making it a popular destination for hikers, rock climbers, and free runners alike.

Acquired by the Peak District National Park Authority in the 1980s, The Roaches Estate is expertly managed by Staffordshire Wildlife Trust, ensuring the preservation of its stunning landscapes and rich biodiversity. On clear days, visitors can enjoy spectacular views that stretch across Cheshire, reaching as far as Snowdon in Wales and Winter Hill in Lancashire.

The Roaches is not only a haven for outdoor recreation but also a sanctuary for wildlife. Designated as a Site of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and part of the South Pennine Moor Special Area for Conservation (SAC), the area boasts internationally important habitats, including blanket bog and upland moorland. It is home to a variety of specialist breeding and wintering birds, such as curlew, red grouse, and tree pipit.

Located conveniently from major nearby towns. The Roaches offers an unparalleled experience for nature lovers and adventure seekers and is approximately 12 miles (19 km) from Leek, 22 miles (35 km) from Buxton, and 24 miles (39 km) from Macclesfield.

Experience the magnificence of The Roaches—where stunning rock faces and heather-covered hillsides create one of Staffordshire's most photographed landscapes.

THE MAIN HOUSE

Introducing a spacious and versatile 4-bedroom (or 3/4-bedroom) detached stone farmhouse, perfect for families seeking a blend of comfort and character. This delightful home features an entrance porch that leads into a well-appointed breakfast kitchen, ideal for casual dining.

The accommodation includes a practical boot room and cloakroom, providing convenience for everyday living. With two generous reception rooms, there's plenty of space for relaxation and entertaining with one room versatile and could easily be utilised as a ground floor bedroom/bedroom four. The ground floor is concluded with a bright and airy conservatory that offers a seamless connection to the garden.

On the first floor, you will find three double bedrooms, including a main bedroom complete with an ensuite for added privacy. A well-designed family bathroom serves the additional bedrooms, ensuring ample facilities for all.

Outside, the property boasts ample parking with gated access, along with beautifully landscaped gardens that surround the home, creating an inviting outdoor space for leisure and recreation.

This charming farmhouse offers the perfect blend of rural charm and modern living, making it a wonderful place to call home.
