Situation and Description

This very attractive Grade II Listed Oast House will be part of a small development of barns that lie adjacent to a pretty Georgian farmhouse on a small no-through council-maintained lane, which itself lies between the villages of Bodenham, Sutton St Nicholas and Marden in northeast Herefordshire. Between them the villages offer an excellent range of local services with the cathedral city of Hereford being only 6 miles away, providing more extensive facilities as well as road and rail links to other parts of the country.

Constructed of brick and timber elevations The Oast House is a striking building which adjoins farmland on two sides with attractive views over fields. Most of the original character of the building remains and the detailed plans allow for a sympathetic conversion to create a unique home with accommodation laid out over three floors.

Outside

The property is approached by a shared driveway which leads to a useful parking space to the front of The Oast House and the plot allows plenty of space to create an individual garden to further compliment this very individual building. The property also comes with a large newly constructed double garage as part of a block and parking by the road, this has ducting that connects it to The Oast House.

The purchaser is responsible for the finishing of the turning area in front of the building.

From Hereford proceed out of the city on the A465 towards Worcester. After a further mile note the sharp double bend and continue for a quarter of a mile and adjacent to a small cottage turn left between white railings into a no-through lane, marked Venns Green. The small development will then be found on the right-hand side.
