With its red-brick façade, white detailing and tall windows, this home has an immediate charm, further enhanced by greenery at the front and classic styling.

Inside, the hallway welcomes you with timber flooring and a painted staircase rising to the upper levels, while light filters through the glazed panel above the door. A WC beneath the stairs makes good use of space with a clean finish.

Bright and inviting, the reception room has wide front windows drawing in natural light. A decorative fireplace with cast-iron insert adds character, while timber flooring enhances the period feel. Wooden flooring continues throughout as the space flows from cooking to dining to relaxing, before opening onto the garden for easy indoor-outdoor living.

The south-facing garden is bathed in sunlight. A paved terrace provides the perfect spot for al-fresco dining, while the lawn stretches beyond with mature planting and trees offering privacy and tranquillity.

On the first floor, three bedrooms are arranged around the landing. The main double at the front features broad windows and a period fireplace, while the rear bedroom enjoys leafy outlooks. A smaller front-facing room with views of the street below offers a versatile layout. The bathroom is styled in soothing tones, with a tiled wall framing the bath and indulgent rain shower. Refined finishes combine to create a serene retreat.

A WORD FROM THE OWNERS.....

"Highams Park is London's best kept secret and we will be forever grateful that we discovered it. With its mix of green space, independent cafés and shops, and community feel, it's truly been a wonderful home for us. The area is known for how friendly it is and we've loved getting to know so many lovely people and families locally - and especially on our road and the immediately surrounding streets. It's been a brilliant place for our two daughters to go to nursery and to start at an outstanding local school. Our house has been renovated throughout and we especially love the large, open-plan kitchen-dining area. It's a wonderful family room and perfect for socialising, especially with the doors to the garden wide open in the summer. The loft extension has also been brilliant, giving us a large master bedroom with view of the treetops and a dedicated home office. We hope the next owners enjoy this lovely home as much as we have."
