ROGER HEMMING'S VIEW...

Occupying a convenient spot just a few minutes walk from Honiton's town centre and the railway station, this top-floor flat offers economical, bright and surprisingly spacious accommodation. There's no onward chain with this one, it's been carefully priced to sell and it'd be a brilliant first home for a young buyer or indeed a shrewd long-term buy-to-let investment property. The flat is accessed from a communal stairwell and a private entrance hall then leads into the principal rooms. The living space enjoys a high degree of privacy, as it has large double-glazed Velux-style skylight windows which aren't overlooked. There's a well-proportioned living room and a kitchen with the space for a breakfast table and chairs. The flat has a double bedroom and a bathroom with a contemporary suite. The property has Economy Seven night-storage heaters.

"There can't be many properties available in Honiton at this price, can there?"

"Whilst 19 Meadows Crescent would be a brilliant first home, if it was bought as a buy-to-let investment, we'd suggest a monthly rental income of £575 to £600 to be achievable."
