RIGBY & MARCHANT

Reminiscent of grand Victorian structures, this apartment enjoys original cornicing and many preserved heritage features. Fitted with bespoke cabinetry, cast iron radiators and chevron parquet floors, this home displays both form and function. The centre of the living room, a stunning fireplace is flanked by floor-to-ceiling bookcases, meticulously lined with bronzed mirror glass. Opposite, a sizeable kitchen features blue painted cabinets complimented by brass hardware details, a sleek induction hob and a wine cooler. From here, a door leads to a charming balcony that runs the width of the building.

The master bedroom suite is situated at the rear of the property, providing privacy and maximum relaxation. A set of sash windows and a run of generous floor-to-ceiling fitted wardrobes contribute to the spaciousness of this room. The en-suite shower room is fitted with a mix of marble, striking geometric tiles and brass fittings. Equally, the guest bedroom shares the same soothing colour palette with additional fitted storage and is serviced by a large, family-sized bathroom.

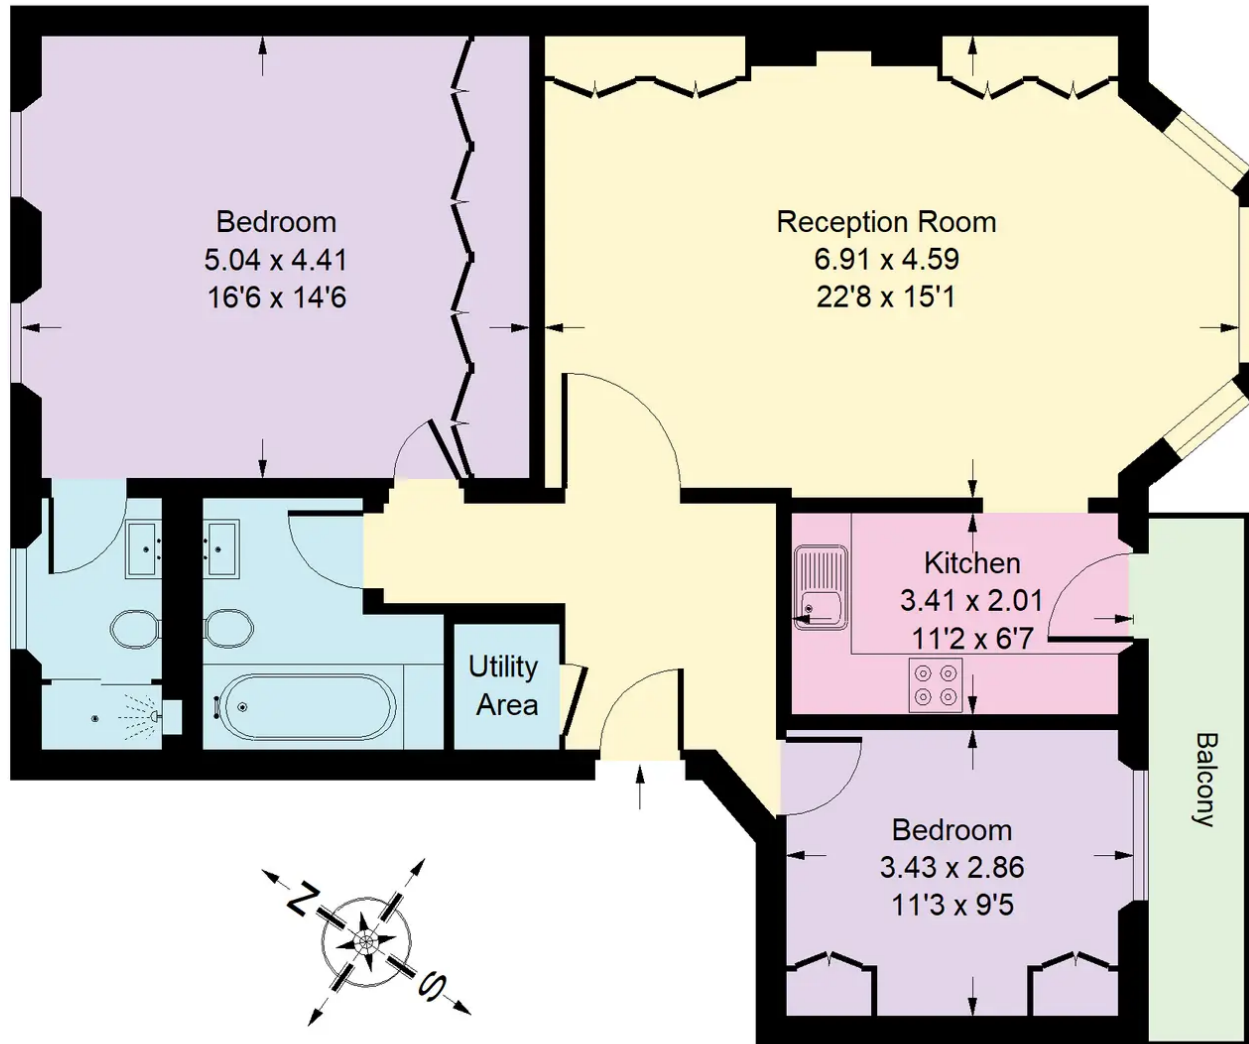

Bassett Road is a pretty, tree-lined street of detached Victorian Villas, made all the more special by its close proximity to green spaces and a whole host of charming independent shops and global eateries. Wormwood Scrubs is a short jog away ideal for those morning runs and dog walking. Portobello and Golborne Road Markets are close by while transport links are very good, with Ladbroke Grove and Latimer tube station just a 5-minute walk.
