233 Langside Road, Glasgow, G42 8XY

Description

The property comprises a Victorian era tenement building of masonry construction arranged over four floors with retail accommodation on the ground floor and residential on the upper floors. The roof is pitched and appears to be clad in slate tiles.

The shop, which benefits from return frontage, is accessed via a single aluminium glazed pedestrian door and is protected by an electrically operated roller shutter. Internally, there is a large open retail space which is rectangular in shape. The floor is covered in ceramic tiles and the walls in plasterboard. The ceiling is also of plasterboard and incorporates LED strip lighting. There is no gas supply to the property and space heating is provided electrically.

Location

Glasgow is Scotland's largest city and is situated close to the west coast. There are four main motorways which run through the city putting it at the hub of Scotland's road network. The City sits approximately 50 miles west of Edinburgh and connects via the M8, the main motorway network serving central Scotland.

The subject corner property is situated on the east side of Langside Road, immediately at its junction with Allison Street in the Govanhill area of Glasgow which is located approximately 2 miles south of the city centre. The A77 Pollokshields Road is within close proximity and links to the M74. Public transport links to Glasgow city centre are plentiful in the area, with Queens Park Railway Station located a short distance away. Nearby occupiers include AA Continental, Glasgow Sweet Centre and Shinwari Restaurant.
