Description

A fully fitted, self contained ground and lower ground floor office in the heart of Clerkenwell, designed by renowned Architect Amin Taha comprising 3,445 sq ft of Grade A office space.

The development completed in 2017, won a RIBA National Award in 2018 and was one of six buildings shortlisted for the Stirling Prize in 2021.

Benefitting from exceptional connectivity; located within 150 meters of Farringdon Station (Elizabeth Line, Thameslink and London Underground).

Enter the building over the pebbled floor, dodging the glass walk on roof lights and stepping onto the glass bridge; it feels like you have stepped into a void suspended between the lower ground space and the heavy mass of the building floating above.

On the ground floor, the floating glass meeting room appears balanced on a beam, the folding raw metal staircase leads down to the studio space below; all brought together with different materials but are connected by a similar attitude to simplicity, rawness and expression.

The lower ground floor is arranged around the central lift core and comprises two W.C's, a well equipped kitchenette and ample space for 40 desks. It does not feel like subterranean space as natural light floods in through the vast cutaways, glass ceilings, roof lights and glazed walkways.

Offers are invited in excess of £3,200,000 subject to contract and exclusive of VAT.
