PORTLAND SQUARE SOUTH

History

Portland Square was planned by the City elders and built for the "great and good" of Carlisle in the 1870's. Set outside the historic and confining walls of old Carlisle on meadow land originally owned by the Aglionby estate, Portland Square was a statement of place and prosperity which was in part brought by the new railway station and the expansion of mills, factories and enterprises around the City. Of particular interest is 5 Portland Square built by Joseph Huthart, Mayor of Carlisle and Hamilton House, 15 Portland Square which was built in 1881 as a private girls school.

Overview & Setting

Portland Square South represents the second and final phase of Halston Homes' five-year renovation and redevelopment of this landmark historic square. A truly unique set of properties with direct traffic free access to Portland Park, secure off street EV parking and all the amenities enjoyed by convenient city living.

These amazing Grade 2 buildings have been painstakingly renovated by the best local craftsmen using high quality materials and now provide unparalleled efficient and modern living within their historic walls, giving buyers security, peace of mind and comfort for years to come.

Each purchaser will become a stakeholder and shareholder in Portland Square South Residential Management Company (PSSRMC) which will, upon completion of the final unit, become the freehold owner of the development to own, manage and control the development without premium or outside control.

To support this there is an annual service charge to cover common and shared costs (see separate service charge estimate.)
