MOVING FORWARD WITH FORREST

We understand the people behind their homes and the challenges of the process.

At Forrest we represent our clients with integrity and expertise, reinforced by a passion for what we sell. We balance our love for property with a desire to help people move.

With a transparent and collaborative approach, which has been redefined by the way that people now buy and sell property, we aim to blend a personal and progressive ethos with the essence of traditional estate agency.

Honest answers

Buying a property can be a daunting and often challenging time, so we believe it is crucial that buyers feel well informed and supported throughout.

As a member of The Property Ombudsman scheme, National Association of Estate Agents as well as fully compliant with Anti Money Laundering regulations and Data Protection, we pride ourselves on our work ethic and professional standards.

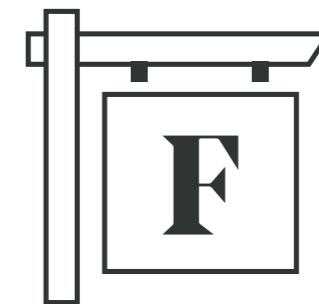

With our clients and their homes firmly at the heart of our business, we strive to offer a bespoke selling service which is underpinned by our industry experience and love for what we do. As a thoroughly forward thinking and independent estate agency we are proud to showcase properties at their best thanks to our professional photography and tailored marketing campaigns.

Who's behind Forrest?

Chris has developed an established network in and around Bristol, having worked for both corporate and independent estate agencies. With proven experience across both urban and rural markets, he demonstrates a pragmatic and inspired attitude and is recognised as a trusted advisor to buyers and sellers alike. Having sold over £75m of property in his career, he works hard to ensure lines of communication remain open and that his clients feel valued.

Our Home

Located in Berkeley Square, Clifton, the Forrest agency has been born out of nearly a decade of property experience. We firmly believe that people buy from people and the objective is to create an honest and thoroughly modern agency that is committed to a truly personal service.

From our base in Bristol, we are on hand to sell properties across the city and beyond, offering our clients competitive fees thanks to our streamlined business model.

If you are keen to see how the Forrest agency can help you, please get in touch.
