This substantial period terrace home offers exceptional living space across three floors, combining classic character with modern comfort. The welcoming entrance hall leads to two elegant reception rooms, each featuring attractive period fireplaces that serve as striking focal points. The spacious kitchen is perfect for family living and entertaining. A light-filled conservatory provides an additional living space, seamlessly connecting to the enclosed rear garden. The ground floor is completed by a well-appointed bedroom with adjacent shower room, offering excellent flexibility as an annexe or guest room. The first and second floors host four generous double bedrooms, the master benefitting from a modern en-suite shower room. A dedicated study room offers a quiet workspace, ideal for remote working.
