The property boasts a lofty central atrium reception area set in elegant Italian stone which is a defining feature of the house. The volumes of the space are enhanced by oversized custom glass doors looking out onto an expansive outdoor terrace and 121 ft south facing garden. A contemporary built-in glass fireplace creates a ski chalet atmosphere during inclement weather. The owners commissioned the grand modern home to include a contemporary glass, steel and wooden staircase to look out onto the atrium.

The Ground Floor reception area is open plan, comprising of a modern display kitchen with a large island and high-end appliances, dining and living space along with a custom-made bar with specialist wine storage. This floor also boasts a luxurious period bedroom suite, a fully equipped cinema room, an ergonomic utility space including a secondary kitchen and pantry, a boot room with a dog shower and a service bedroom suite. The First Floor provides four unusually large en-suite bedrooms, a spacious landing looking onto the atrium and ample storage. The Principal Suite also has a deluxe custom built dressing room and an outdoor terrace. Having undergone a recent two year reconstruction under the brainchild of a Foster + Partners alumni, it becomes immediately apparent that a meticulous architectural and interior design process has taken place.
