DIRECTIONS

The property is accessed from Bridge Street close to St Johns church at the junction with Agard Street, all within close proximity to the city centre, Friar Gate and Ashbourne Road areas.

This highly-attractive three double bedroom Georgian end-townhouse, which dates back to the late 18th century maintains a great sense of character seamlessly blended with modern day fittings and being beautifully presented throughout. This is a rare opportunity to acquire a special property.

Comprising spacious accommodation over two floors, the property enjoys a modern gas central heating system and also features a log burning stove. Entering the property into a magnificent formal hallway with stairs to the first floor there is a lounge to the left with the log burning stove and study area, to the right of the hallway is a second reception room perfect as a dining room with deep bay window and with open plan access into the dining kitchen with integrated appliances and island/breakfast bar also with bi-folding doors into the courtyard garden. To the first floor an attractive semi-galleried landing area gives access to a useful loft store area, principle spacious bedroom with walk-in dressing room, second front facing double bedroom with bay window and third rear facing double bedroom, there is finally a spacious bathroom with shower over bath.

To the immediate front of the building is a driveway for one car and front garden offering potential for additional parking. Across the gravelled driveway, steps lead to a delightful lowered garden and seating area next to Markeaton brook, the perfect place to unwind. The pretty rear courtyard is enclosed with a paved patio accessed from the bi-folding doors in the dining kitchen, plentiful space for patio furniture and potted plants, gated rear access and also a superb modern constructed timber building with log store area and room with doors, window and power supply, potentially the perfect home office.

A real hidden gem of the Derby property market, rarely available and ideally suited to someone looking for a unique character property in a central location.
