Set on a generous corner plot within a quiet cul-de-sac, this spacious detached home offers all the flexibility and comfort a modern family could wish for. With a detached double garage, a private rear garden, and a layout that ticks every box, it's a property that feels welcoming from the very first step inside.

The ground floor is designed with both family life and entertaining in mind. A bright living room with bay window flows naturally into the dining room, which in turn opens into a sunny conservatory – the perfect spot to enjoy the garden views all year round. The well-proportioned kitchen/breakfast room provides plenty of space for casual dining plus enjoys two integrated fridges, an oven, and a four ring burner gas hob, while the separate study is ideal for home working or could double as a snug or playroom.

Upstairs, four well-sized bedrooms ensure there's no "box room compromise" – as each fits a double bed if required. The master bedroom benefits from fitted wardrobes and its own en-suite shower room, while the remaining bedrooms are served by a neat family bathroom.

The outdoor space is a real highlight: the private rear garden is larger than average for the area, with plenty of room for children to play, summer barbecues, or simply relaxing in peace. The detached double garage and driveway add valuable parking and storage.

Location-wise, it doesn't get much better. Linden Court is a tucked-away cul-de-sac with minimal traffic, yet you're only a short stroll from local playing fields, a park, and well-regarded schools – all adding to its family-friendly appeal.

Spacious, versatile, and sitting proudly in one of Sandbach's most desirable spots, this home offers the perfect balance of practicality and lifestyle – ready to move in and make your own.
