LOCATION

The subjects are centrally located within the historic Park Area at the heart of Glasgow's West End. Formed within the most westerly townhouse on the south eastern curved terrace of Park Circus, the subjects hold a prominent corner position at its junction with Park Street South overlooking the central green. This location benefits from excellent transport links being in close proximity of Charing Cross where St. Georges Cross subway station, Charing Cross train station and junctions 17/18 of the M8 motorway are found, whilst also having access to the city centre to the east.

Given its central position, occupiers of the subjects will be able to benefit from a mix of amenities including countless cafes, bars restaurants and shops found within the surrounding areas of Woodlands, Finnieston and Kelvinbridge. Kelvingrove Park, Kelvingrove Art Gallery and Museum, the University of Glasgow and the Scottish Event Campus are all within walking distance. Good levels of metered car parking are found in the area with permits also available.

DESCRIPTION

The subjects comprise recently redecorated office accommodation found on the ground of a Category A Listed traditional sandstone end terraced former townhouse over lower ground, ground, first, second and attic levels. The accommodation continues into the upper level of a converted mews to the rear.

The property retains a range of original features including ornate fireplaces, cornicing and ceiling roses. Access to the accommodation and upper levels is afforded via an impressive shared entrance, hallway and staircase.

ACCOMMODATION

The accommodation is cellular in nature and comprises two offices with store, toilets and galley kitchen to the rear of the main building with further open plan offices within the mews section which benefits from excellent levels of natural light.

FLOOR AREA

We have calculated the Net Internal Floor Area of the property at 186.31 sq m (2,005 sq ft).
