Colville House truly is a wonderful lifestyle opportunity - An exceptional B Listed Georgian home with adjoining self contained cottage plus a two storey dedicated office suite.

Colville House truly is an exceptional example of impressive Georgian architecture and design; this highly attractive B listed detached dwelling lies within the heart of Ayton and is surrounded by superb formal walled gardens. The property exudes charm and character and offers a great sense of grandeur and tradition throughout; indeed the original Georgian property was extended in Victorian times with the two architectural styles marrying together perfectly to provide what is a fabulous family home. The layout of the property is such that it could readily adapt to suit different requirements; the converted coach house and tack room towards the rear offer various possibilities whilst the main accommodation could lend itself to B&B if desired. Not only does the main house offer various possibilities, these are further enhanced by the adjoining self contained cottage in addition to the double storey office and studio. The cottage offers obvious potential either to cater for extended family/multi generational living or as a holiday let/airbnb venture with great scope to generate a healthy income. The office and studio is a perfect space for those who are now working based from home - this self contained space also benefitting from its own kitchenette and cloakroom ensuring that the work environment can be kept entirely separate from the home environment. Externally the grounds are extensive and incorporate formal areas, large lawns, pond, fruit garden and mature trees. They boast a fabulous walled surround which ensures good privacy and provides a safe and secure environment. The scale of the garden is such that it really does provide an opportunity for 'the good life' with ample room to grow your own and for any gardening enthusiast to carry out further landscaping.
