The Approach

As you drive down the charming, tree-lined country lane surrounded by open fields, a sense of calm sets in, and the stresses of the day begin to fade away. Soon, you arrive at the gated entrance to the property, where a spacious driveway and garage provides ample parking for multiple vehicles—ideal for families with several drivers. A good size garden surrounds the property, and offers space for pets and children to roam and play freely. The property itself makes an impressive first impression, showcasing a unique and spacious design. Its exterior blends materials beautifully, with rendered block, locally sourced exposed stone, and stylish cladding. Extensions on either side lend it a pleasing bilateral symmetry that adds to its character. Now, shall we step inside?

The Property (Ground Floor)

A warm and welcoming entrance hall greets you, offering ample space for coats and boots. From here, doors lead to the kitchen/diner, the main reception room, and a ground-floor bedroom. This ground-floor bedroom is wonderfully practical, especially suited for multi-generational living or those with relatives who may find stairs challenging. It features a beautifully appointed en-suite shower room and convenient built-in storage—something we at Hunters truly appreciate for its practicality!

The sitting room is truly exceptional, flowing seamlessly into the stunning orangery to create a combined space that stretches nearly 28 feet in length. A two-sided wood-burning stove warms both this room and the adjacent dining room, adding cosy charm. With its south-facing orientation, the sitting room is bathed in natural light, while the orangery boasts beautiful exposed A-frames and beams, vaulted ceilings, quality herringbone floors, and French doors that open onto the garden—a truly inviting retreat.

The kitchen/diner might just be the showstopper here. Looking like something straight out of a top interior design magazine, this space is sure to impress friends and family alike. An extensive array of ultra-high-gloss cabinetry with soft-close mechanisms offers abundant storage, making it a chef's dream. The herringbone flooring continues here, complemented by high-spec built-in appliances, including a dishwasher, oven, electric hob with extractor, a massive built-in fridge and freezer, and an instant hot water tap over the sink. The views from the window beyond the sink are of picturesque countryside. The gorgeous Dekton countertops, made from durable man-made quartz, provide ample space for meal prep. In the dining area, bifold doors open directly to the garden, perfect for summer entertaining and barbecues. Every detail has been considered here for both beauty and practicality—an ideal blend for a remarkable home.

Adjacent to the kitchen is a well-appointed utility room with even more storage, workspace, and plumbing for a washing machine and dryer, plus an additional sink. Off the utility, you'll find a beautifully finished ground-floor cloakroom, access to the garage with an electric door, and a door to the front elevation.

The Property (First Floor)

Heading upstairs, one of the first things you'll notice is the generous landing—an often underrated yet valuable space in any home. The three bedrooms on this level are impressively spacious, each featuring built-in storage and offering stunning countryside views. Presented to impeccable standards, these rooms continue the elegant herringbone flooring found throughout the home.

Additionally, there's a handy eave storage room and a beautifully appointed shower room, complete with a high-quality white suite and luxurious fixtures that lend a spa-like feel. Every detail has been thoughtfully chosen to create a refined, relaxing retreat.

The Outdoor Space

The property is set within a generous plot, with most of the garden extending to the front and sides, providing a serene atmosphere surrounded by countryside and farmland—a perfect setting for enjoying local wildlife. There is ample parking for multiple vehicles as well as a garage, offering both convenience and practicality. This outdoor space truly enhances the charm and tranquility of the home.
