Asking Price £895,000

A sympathetically executed Manx barn conversion set in the heart of the Manx countryside. Converted in 2002 to a very high standard of workmanship, Ballashee combines traditional design with flexible accommodation. Much use has been made of natural materials including reclaimed Manx stone and American Red Oak to create a warm and welcoming four-bedroomed country home of unique character with living spaces ideally suited to entertaining. Facing south, with distant sea views and quietly situated in unspoiled countryside on the outskirts of St Marks village, Ballashee is conveniently located for the airport and the capital, Douglas. No onward chain.
