Thriplow is a traditional village about 6 miles south west of the city boundary with excellent road access by either the A10 or A505. Junction 10 of the M11 is less than 4 miles away. For the London commuter, there are stations at Foxton (3 miles) or Royston (6 miles), which has an under 40 minutes service to King's Cross. The village has its own primary school, playgroup, popular historic pub restaurant, church and village hall with neighbouring playing fields. It is well known locally for its annual daffodil show. The surrounding villages have excellent further facilities including lots of day-to-day shops and a secondary school in Melbourn (3 miles), a wildlife park in Shepreth (2 miles), a golf club at Heydon Grange (2 miles) and the Imperial War Museum at Duxford (3.5 miles).
