Everywhere From Limehouse

This part of London has amazingly good public transport links. From Caroline Street it's six minutes on foot to Limehouse DLR, a direct route to both the City and Canary Wharf, with connections along the way to all London destinations. You can access the Elizabeth Line at Canary Wharf for a speedy journey to Heathrow Airport.

If you're a keen walker you will enjoy exploring the Thames Path, which you can join at Narrow Street. This section of it runs from Greenwich to Tower Bridge, with stunning river views, historic landmarks and waterside pubs all along the way.

Limehouse Looks Forward

Limehouse is an ancient London neighbourhood whose history has been shaped by the river and the sea. Its name comes from the lime kilns once numerous here, supplying local potteries. Later it became a port in its own right, with one of the earliest multicultural communities and an edgy reputation.

Today's Limehouse looks to the future, while acknowledging the spirit of the past. The riverside and its basins are lined with smart restaurants and bistros, a modern contrast to the atmospheric pubs where the likes of Charles Dickens and JMW Turner once supped their pints.

Narrow Street, about thirteen minutes' walk from Caroline Street, is home to The Grapes pub - co-owned by revered actor Sir Ian McKellen - and Bread Street Kitchen, part of the Gordon Ramsay empire. Limehouse Marina and St Katharine Docks are also destinations where you can drink and dine on the waterside. The Prospect of Whitby, established in 1520 and another contender for 'oldest pub' status, perches on the riverside near Shadwell Basin, which is also the location for one of London's newest foodie destinations, Wapping Docklands Market. Again, a case of yesterday meeting today.

If you're after some culture with local flavour, try the arthouse Genesis Cinema, which was once a music hall, or Troxy, a 1930s picturehouse repurposed as a music/comedy/events space with its fabulous Art Deco interior much in evidence. The Whitechapel Gallery is a highly regarded arts venue whose collection includes works by Picasso, Frida Kahlo, William Kentridge and Cindy Sherman.

Entertainment On The Grand Scale

About sixteen minutes by DLR from Limehouse is one of Europe's foremost performance venues, the O2 Arena. Some of rock music's most stellar names regularly strut the stage under the vast dome, and it's also the location for comedy, sport and TV occasions like the Brit Awards and Strictly. Other reasons to visit the O2 include clubbing at Indigo, outlet shopping, dome-top views from Up at the O2, or uproarious fun at the 'Mamma Mia' dining experience.

Canary Wharf, The City In The East

Canary Wharf

Canary Wharf

Now rivalling the City as the UK's foremost business hub, Canary Wharf is visible for miles, thanks to the pyramid top of One Canada Square. But there's much more to it than towering office buildings. Canary Wharf is a destination in its own right, for fun, shopping and leisure as well as work. Events, ice skating, cinema, curling, mini golf, immersive theatre, parks and go-karting are all part of the mix. The shopping and dining offering is amazing, distributed across Cabot Place, and four other malls, as well as on prime waterside spots. From the everyday practical – groceries, banks, coffee shops, dry cleaning, dentists – to high end restaurants, buzzing bars, designer fashion and everything in between, Canary Wharf has it all. As 'The Wharf' grows, there's always more coming onstream.

You can reach this dazzling district in 11 minutes by DLR from Limehouse station, ideal for work or play. Most likely, it'll be a mixture of both.

London's Vital Square Mile

The oldest part of London remains one of its most important; this one Square Mile rivals Downtown Manhattan as the financial capital of the world, with 500 banks amongst the companies doing business there. If you work there, you'll be familiar with its beguiling mix of architectural marvels such as the 'Gherkin' and the 'Cheesegrater', sitting alongside medieval churches, secret alleys and hidden parks.

A superb range of bars, pubs and restaurants of every price bracket services hungry and thirsty office workers, and include some with heart-stopping high-rise views, as can be seen at the Duck & Waffle at 110 Bishopsgate, or the Sky Garden on top of the 'Walkie Talkie'.

City shoppers have a world of choice from the luxury brands on sale at the Royal Exchange to more affordable options at One New Change. The City's famous markets continue to thrive, and include Petticoat Lane, Leadenhall and Old Spitalfields Markets.
