INGLEFIELD KIRBY LANE

- Incredible character property
- Well presented throughout
- Four spacious bedrooms
- Two en-suites and house bathroom
- Spectacular lounge
- Kitchen diner with quality appliances
- Lovely gardens and terraces
- Set in beautiful countryside
- Spectacular ancient Bluebell wood

Inglefield is an incredible character home that is part of a conversion of four properties on the Barrowby Estate set in beautiful countryside in the ever-popular village of Kirkby Overblow.

The real show-stopper of this property has to be the spectacular lounge, formally an old chapel, and subsequently donated to the Church of England in 1950 as a retreat. Period features are abundant including vaulted ceilings, beams, solid oak floor, stone fireplace with log burner, and beautiful double doors onto the terrace outside - this really is the heart of the home!

The lounge steps lead through a double door to the rest of the house which includes a formal dining room, study, utility room, and WC. The spacious dining kitchen boasts quality appliances, quartz worktops, and dual-aspect windows, one of which has a lovely window seat.

Upstairs boasts a spacious guest bedroom with an en-suite shower room, two further double bedrooms, and a house bathroom. The master suite boasts vaulted ceilings and is flooded with natural light from the double doors onto the balcony that has incredible countryside views. The stylish en-suite has a freestanding rolltop bath and lots of light from the Velux window.

Externally, the southwest-facing garden has been professionally landscaped and offers an abundance of sitting areas perfect for enjoying the wonderful countryside. The property sits in two acres of land and features its very own ancient bluebell wood which in the Springtime boasts a carpet of blue! The woodland offers privacy and seclusion and a peaceful haven in which to enjoy all that nature has to offer.

The property also benefits from a double garage
