Recommendations

In light of the above entries, we would recommend the following items which can be ordered through our website:

Planning

- Planning Report: as a Local Search does not consider planning applications or permissions relating to other properties nearby
- Indemnity insurance quotation: if Planning Permission has not been revealed for alterations carried out to the property

Building Control and Restrictions on Land or Development Use

- Full copies of the documents revealed
- Indemnity insurance quotation: if Completion Certificates have not been revealed for all alterations carried out to the property

Environmental Issues

- Environment Report: this Local Search result does not show any records of contamination held by the Local Authority. However, these records only indicate land that has been fully investigated and designated as Contaminated Land, and does not confirm that a site will not be investigated in the future. As most councils have not yet completed their contamination records, you should consider an Environment Report.

Information for Buyers

This section is a guide to the content of the local authority search result. It should be read in association with the main report. This information should not be considered as legal advice and you should check with your conveyancer and/or surveyor if you have any concerns about the search results.

If you would like to know more about the issues raised, there is a wealth of information available using the keyword search facilities at www.gov.uk

Local Land Charge Entries

The Property is subject to Local Land Charge Entries

What is a Local Land Charge?

Local Land Charges are generally any financial charges (which usually relate to work carried out on the property or land by the Local Authority or an appointed/approved body), or certain restrictions or prohibitions on the use of the property or land. They affect whoever owns the land and will be binding and enforceable against the new owner.

Common types of Local Land Charges include, but are not limited to:

- planning permissions
- listed buildings
- conservation areas
- tree preservation orders
- improvement and renovation grants

Your conveyancer will provide further advice.

Planning

This report reveals no planning entries since 1 April 1996.

When do I need planning permission?

You will probably need Planning Permission to build something new or make changes to your building, for example building an extension or changing the use of the building. Some building projects do not require Planning Permission; this is known as Permitted Development Rights. Please let your Conveyancer and your Surveyor know if you are aware of any other alterations which do not appear on this list. Permission may not have been required, but your Conveyancer will advise you if there are any concerns.

Do not approach the Council direct without first speaking with your Conveyancer, as it could limit your options.

What about planning applications for nearby properties?

Please note that this report does not consider planning applications or permissions relating to other properties nearby. You can obtain this information via a Planning report which may also include information about the neighbourhood such as rights of way, local amenities, average house prices and council tax bands, local schools, colleges and performance tables, theft insurance claims and more.

Building Regulations

This report reveals building regulation entries since 1 April 1996.

What does this mean?

The report shows Building Regulations entries. Please let your Conveyancer and your Surveyor know if there are any alterations which do not appear to have consent.

Do not approach the Council direct without first checking with your Conveyancer, as it will limit your options.

Consent may not have been required but your Conveyancer will advise you if there are any concerns or whether you should consider insurance.

What are Building Regulations?

Building Regulations apply to building work in England and Wales. They set standards for the design and construction of buildings to ensure the safety and health for people in or about those buildings. They also include requirements to ensure that fuel and power is conserved and facilities are provided for people, including those with disabilities, to access and move around inside buildings. Consent may not have been required but your Conveyancer will advise you if there are any concerns or whether you should consider insurance.

Is Building Regulations approval the same as planning permission?

Building Regulations approval is a completely separate matter from obtaining planning permission for any proposed work. Similarly, receiving planning permission is not the same as taking action to ensure it complies with the Building Regulations. The responsibility for checking that Buildings Regulations have been met usually falls to a Local Authority Building Inspector.

Local Area Land Use

The report reveals the following

None

What does this mean?

Land Use Designations indicate the primary use for the area as decided by the Local Authority. If this will affect your intended use of the property, please contact your Conveyancer. Further information about land use can be obtained from the Local Authority shown on the front of this report.

What is a Development Plan/Local Plan?

Development plans set out the local planning authority's policies and proposals for the development and use of land in their area. The development plan guides and informs on day-to-day decisions as to whether or not planning permission would be granted.

Road Maintenance

B4354 O STAD TŶ'N RHOS I GYFFORDD I LANARMON

- Highway maintainable at public expense

What does this mean?

If a highway is classed as "highway maintainable at public expense" it will be maintained by the Highways Authority (Local Authority, County Council, Transport for London or Highways England). Some highways will be maintained by the Local Authority Housing Department/Housing Association. If the highway is not maintained by any of the above, then maintenance responsibility usually falls to the owners of the property fronting that part of the road. If a highway is classed as "To Follow" that means some data is still outstanding from the Local Authority, therefore, in the meantime your solicitor has requested a copy of the incomplete search so they can begin their own enquiries. As soon as the missing information is received the completed RLAS will be returned.

Direction restricting permitted development

The property is subject to a Direction restricting permitted development

What does this mean?

The Permitted Development Rights of the property owner to alter, extend or change the use of the property without planning permission have been restricted. You should contact the Local Authority before commencing any works to the property to establish which consents will be required.

Contaminated Land

The report has not revealed any records of contamination held by the Local Authority

What should I do?

The Local Authority is obliged to identify contaminated land sites and issue 'remediation' or clean up notices to the homeowner or developer of the land. Land is usually contaminated due to past industrial use. However, not all contaminated land has been identified by the Local Authority. It is for this reason that your Conveyancer may have ordered an Environment Report - which is recommended for all properties - or insurance.
