Cyder Press Farm

Cyder Press Farm is an impressive, Grade II Listed, half-timbered farmhouse which is believed to date back to 1667 with some herring-bone masonry, thought to be Saxon. The home has sympathetically evolved over recent years to a large family home offering versatile, living accommodation within a beautiful setting. Inglenook fireplaces, flagstone floors and timber thumb latch doors are just some of the charming features that Cyder Press Farm boasts.

Ground Floor

Upon entering the home, you are struck by the abundance of character which beautifully demonstrates the age and history of the home. To the right of the entrance hall is the living room which boasts a large fireplace with oak mantle, stone hearth and inset woodburning stove. The room is bathed in natural light through the window which overlooks the front of the home and timber French doors which lead to the rear garden. Leading through the living room you arrive at a further reception room which could serve a variety of uses including a private annexe as it benefits from an external entrance door and stairs to the first-floor bedroom suite.

Leading back through the home and to the left of the entrance hall is a formal dining room. The room provides a beautiful backdrop for dining with a flagstone floor and inglenook fireplace with an imposing timber mantelpiece. A window overlooks the rear garden, while a second staircase leads to the first floor.

Stepping down the stone steps, you arrive at the modern family kitchen. The room has been carefully planned to blend the historic charm of the home with contemporary living. The modern, wood cupboards and granite worktops provide ample storage and preparation space. There is a variety of kitchen appliances to include a three oven electric Aga Range cooker, dishwasher and American style fridge/freezer. The room has been cleverly designed to accommodate a utility area with Belfast sink, plumbing for appliances and access to the ground floor WC.

To complete the ground floor accommodation is a further reception room with apex roof and a wall which beautifully displays the period stonework of the home. A room to enjoy all year round, particularly in the summer months when you can open the French doors and venture between the house and garden.

First Floor

The first floor of the home can be accessed via two sets of staircases. The master bedroom is a wonderful, serene room with picture windows and Velux roof lights, providing natural lighting and views over the gardens. The brick chimney breast, timber framed walls and Listed cruck blade beams display the period charm of the home. Opposite the master bedroom is a modern fitted bathroom with a white suite comprising a rain fall shower cubicle, roll top bath, double vanity unit with storage space, mirrors and lighting above, WC and heated towel rail.

Children and history lovers will love the quirky access to bedroom two through its half-height timbered door. For those who prefer a full height door, fear not as there is alternative access from the other side of the room. This room boasts further surprising features within the vaulted ceiling where you will find access to a mezzanine floor, the perfect hideout!

Bedroom three can be accessed via a private staircase with landing and enjoys built in storage furniture and an en-suite bathroom with WC, wash hand basin and roll top bath. The fourth double bedroom has a window overlooking the rear garden and benefits from a WC and wash hand basin.

Gardens

Double wooden gates lead you to the large private driveway which provides parking for multiple vehicles. A detached double garage with power and light provides space to lock up bicycles/motorcycles along with a lean to for storage and a wood store area.

The mature gardens wrap the home and are bordered with establish trees, shrubs and a stunning dry-stone wall. The rear garden offers a private area to sit and appreciate views over the lawn which we are told is also the perfect setting for a game of croquet with family and friends.

To the front of the home is another stone patio area for entertaining and a place to enjoy the walled garden and pièce de résistance, the charming stone cider press.
