Description

The Fortescue Arms is a substantial former pub and restaurant which also offers 9 en-suite letting rooms, a large trade garden to the rear and a good size car park.

The flexible and spacious internal trading space provides a comfortable bar area off of which is a separate room that can seat c. 40, previously used as a family area with a children's softplay.

From the restaurant/breakfast area, which has c. 30 covers, a short flight of stairs leads to the main restaurant which has c. 75 covers and overlooks the rear trade garden.

This has been set up as a carvery restaurant, behind which is the large and well equipped catering kitchen.
