This beautiful historic Grade 2 Listed public house resides in a wonderful countryside location, just a few miles from the East Hertfordshire town of Ware and sits on a plot 0.75 acres in size. Having been a local landmark for centuries, it is now open to a new owner looking to run a similar business or explore its potential for other types of business or residential development (subject to planning consent). The White Horse retains the infrastructure to be a fully operational public house with two bar areas, dining area, multiple WC facilities, a work-ready kitchen, two cellar rooms, and living accommodations over the top two floors with large living room, kitchenette, bathroom and three bedrooms. Outside is a tarmac car park for multiple vehicles, a patio area, various sheds & outbuildings and a garden area that backs onto farmland. The interior is well-presented and retains many character features, including some exposed beams and a stunning inglenook fireplace. Please call us now for further information.

THE WHITE HORSE PUBLIC HOUSE

The building is not currently being used as a public house but retains the features and infrastructure for a new owner, who could make this into a fine-dining gastro pub, or with the use of the extensive car park it could be aligned with classic car and motorcycle clubs to create a local hub for meets and activities (subject to consents). There are many avenues one may wish to consider. With investment, this could be a thriving business with the benefit of live-in owner/manager facilities.

There may also be some options for conversion to other types of businesses or residential development, we would encourage any potential bidders to carry out our due diligence and research prior to bidding if they wish to undertake such a change of use which would be subject to planning consents,
