LOCATION & SITUATION

The property is located within the principal commercial district of Lincoln. Freeman Road is situated just off Station Road, an established industrial area approximately 5 miles south-west of Lincoln's city centre.

The property is within 2 miles of the A46 trunk road. The A46 connects Lincoln with Leicester, Newark-on-Trent and with the A52 to the south, subsequently linking with Derby, Nottingham and the M1 motorway.

The A46 also connects with the A1 (and subsequently the A1(M)), and the A15, facilitating access to principal destinations to the north and the Humber sea ports. Access to the north-east, including the sea ports, is being enhanced by the on-going investment into local transport infrastructure, which includes the Lincoln eastern bypass, and proposed North Hykeham relief road.

Hykeham Train Station is within walking distance of the property, providing direct services into Nottingham, Leicester & Newark Northgate.

THE PROPERTY

The property comprises a detached self-contained four bay industrial / warehouse premises on a site of 2.65 acres, with external yard and parking area.

The bays are of steel portal frame construction, with brickwork and steel clad elevations, beneath a pitched asbestos cement sheet roof.

The warehouse accommodation is clear span, and benefits from a concrete floor and LED lighting throughout.

The clear internal height ranges from 4.5m to 6m, rising to up to 9m at the apex.

Loading to the warehouse accommodation is by way of four roller shutter doors accessible via the front yard.

Externally, there is a yard / loading area to the north of the property, with parking adjacent to the eastern and western bays.

There are solar panels located on the roof of the western bay. Further details are available upon request.
