Property Description

The Compass, a truly exceptional residence, was originally built in 1676 and underwent an extension in 2002, resulting in the addition of a remarkable hexagonal vaulted reception hallway adorned with a magnificent double staircase. Originally serving as a granary, this impressive dwelling now stands as a period home in the heart of the historic village of Northop. To truly grasp this property viewings are highly recommended to appreciate the spaciousness but also the preserved features, including fireplaces, beams, and exposed stone walls. The pièce de résistance, however, is undoubtedly the bespoke oak double staircase with its vaulted ceiling in the reception hall. This property offers ample and versatile living spaces, making it an ideal choice for those seeking to run a business from home or for families in need of an annexe. With two entrances, separate driveways, and parking areas, the possibilities for customisation and privacy are endless.

An exquisite oak door welcomes you into the grand reception hallway, adorned with vaulted ceilings, crafted bespoke oak double sweeping staircase. One side leads you to the East, guiding you through to the spacious landing, you will find two double bedrooms, one of which boasts a dressing area and a walk-in wardrobe and a generously sized four piece bathroom. Ascending the second stairwell leads you to the Library with a secret doorway leading you into the main bedroom, where a walk-through dressing area and high ceilings and access into the Four Piece En-Suite. A door leads onto the the second landing, here, you will find a second staircase descends to the rear reception hallway, guiding you to the Fourth bedroom, a space brimming with potential as a separate living area or annexe. This room offers a great deal of natural light from its double dual aspect windows, this room already boasts plumbing and electric installations, the double garage is below this room a space that could seamlessly merge with the potential annexe, subject to the necessary planning consents.

The garden is enhanced by the presence of Northop brook, which flows through the side and front of the property. This feature adds charm to the already beautiful and mature gardens. Towards the front, there is a spacious lawn with an assortment of trees, shrubs, a greenhouse, and an array of plants along the borders.
