Offers In The Region Of
Garland Street, Bury St. Edmunds

Located in the highly popular Medieval Grid in Bury St Edmunds is this impressive and widely versatile period house that is perfect for those looking to upsize or move closer to the amenities in Town.

This beautiful three bedroom property is in 'turn-key' condition with no expense spared in the vast improvements that have been made over three storeys of accommodation. The property boasts a mixture of high quality modern features that blend with the traditional character of the original build. Features briefly include; An open fireplace (nt), red brick exposed chimney stack, original floorboards, Suffolk brick frontage and high ceilings.

Entry to the house is gained to a double fronted and well appointed sitting room with the stair case rising to the first floor and lowering to the home cinema in the basement. This furthers to the extended kitchen/dining room which is a wonderful open plan space that is inclusive for all to enjoy together. It is a naturally bright area that is formed in an L shape with features that briefly include; Wooden work surfaces, stone effect splash back returns, spot lighting, wood effect flooring, integrated bowl style sink, double glazed windows and patio doors overlooking the outside space, under unit lights, plinth lighting and original exposed timbers.

On the lower floor the vendors have converted their basement to create an enviable additional reception room that is setup as a cosy cinema room. This versatile space could be used for a variety of purposes and may be ideal as a home office, play room or guest suite.

On the first floor there are three nicely proportioned bedrooms with an ensuite shower room for the Master bedroom and a family bathroom. The master bedroom benefits fitted wardrobes to remove the requirement for free standing storage and has a trendy ensuite that includes a walk in fully tiled shower cubicle, corner WC, slimline sink and a chrome heated towel rail.
