THE RESIDENCES AT CORINTHIA HOTEL LONDON

10 WHITEHALL PLACE

A private residence with privileged services

A grand building previously owned by the United Kingdom's Crown Estate is now the prestigious setting for a unique collection of private residences. Situated near the River Thames, Ministries of State and the official home of the British Prime Minister, 10 Whitehall Place offers a lifestyle designed for the world's most discerning residents. World-class architects, designers and craftsmen have joined forces to create eleven palatial apartments and a magnificent penthouse.

Along with a prestigious address, voluminous space and uncompromising quality, the residences offer access to the services of the adjoining Corinthia Hotel. Known as London's 21st Century Grand Hotel, the Corinthia features two restaurants led by multi Michelin-starred Executive Chef Garry Hollihead and a spa recently voted London's leading hotel spa by the readers of Condé Nast Traveller. Residents of 10 Whitehall Place have a private entrance to ESPA Life at Corinthia and a direct line to the Concierge and all services available to hotel guests, including 24/7 room service.

WHITEHALL

A CENTRE OF POWER AND PRESTIGE

Matters of state and the machinery of government are the preserve of Whitehall, the area between Trafalgar Square and the Houses of Parliament. This is where momentous decisions affecting millions of citizens are made and implemented. This is where Heads of State and other visiting dignitaries discuss pressing world affairs. And now, at 10 Whitehall Place, this is where a small number of world citizens will soon take up residence.

OPPORTUNITIES UNFOLD

IN OUR NEIGHBOURHOOD...

A stroll across nearby Trafalgar Square will take residents to the National Gallery's vast collection of paintings. Next door, the National Portrait Gallery displays work ranging from Old Masters to photographs by the enfant terrible. If residents feel the need for more inspiration (or provocation) they may walk along Piccadilly to a Royal Academy art exhibition. After such highbrow pursuits, a dose of popular culture may be in order... fortunately, the West End theatres are not far away. As for stylish shopping, a taxi will whisk residents to Bond Street in just 7 minutes.

...AND ACROSS THE RIVER

Residents heading south will come across a panorama of cultural options. Practically opposite the Corinthia Hotel, the Southbank Centre is an internationally respected collection of concert halls, art galleries and performance spaces. A few minutes downriver stands the Royal National Theatre and, further south, the Old Vic is a theatrical landmark dating back to 1818. A foray south of the river will be doubly rewarding to residents visiting Bankside. Here, the acclaimed Tate Modern gallery stands next to the reconstruction of Shakespeare's Globe theatre.

THE VIEW FROM THE PENTHOUSE TERRACE

Location

OPULENT LIVING AT THE CENTRE OF LONDON LIFE

Charing Cross, a landmark minutes from 10 Whitehall Place, is often regarded as the exact centre of London. A glance at the map below confirms this enviable location, between the River Thames and a Royal Park and between Westminster and the West End. Connoisseurs of fine cuisine will also note that 10 Whitehall Place is especially well placed for visits to many of London's best restaurants, in Covent Garden and St James's. Two fine restaurants, Northall and Massimo, are even closer, of course... next door at the Corinthia Hotel. From all points of view, Whitehall Place is in the right place.

All within five minutes:

1. Changing the Guard at Buckingham Palace
2. Horse Guards Parade
3. The Houses of Parliament with Big Ben
4. Ten Downing Street, home of the Prime Minister
5. The sign of a prestigious address
6. Hungerford Bridge and the London Eye
7. The Palace of Westminster
8. Nelson's Column at Trafalgar Square
9. The church of St Martin in the Fields

Location

LUXURIANT PARKLAND

Residents in search of greenery need not venture far afield. Just across Horse Guards Parade, scene of the annual Trooping the Colour ceremony, lies St James’s Park, the oldest Royal Park in the capital. Created as a deer park by King Henry VIII in 1536, the park with its lake is a haven for ducks, geese and even pelicans. Bordering the park are the Palace of Westminster, now the British seat of government, St James’s Palace and Buckingham Palace, residence of Her Majesty the Queen.

LUXURY PASTIMES

Other nearby palaces are the grand edifices dedicated to upscale shopping – the retail palaces of Regent Street and Bond Street. Here, residents will find garments and accessories bearing the most sought-after designer labels. The world’s leading jewellers and watchmakers are well represented in Bond Street, while gentlemen seeking fine tailoring and shirtmaking will head for nearby Savile Row or Jermyn Street. Conveniently for residents, the nearest branch of Harrods is in the lobby of the Corinthia Hotel, next door to their London home.

10 WHITEHALL PLACE

THE SETTING FOR A RADICAL CHANGE IN POLICY

Throughout its life, officials based at 10 Whitehall Place have steered government policy and set the laws of the land. Now the rules have changed. The over-riding policy today is to create unique London residences that meet the particular needs of the world's cosmopolitan elite. Taking an uncompromising stance, Corinthia has drafted-in highly skilled artisans to craft ultra-luxury living accommodation. Specifying the finest, materials and finishes, the policymakers have set their sights high.

An illustrious past

LATE EDWARDIAN MEETS EARLY 21ST CENTURY

10 Whitehall Place has an illustrious history of public service. Constructed by the British Ministry of Works from 1910-1914, the impressive edifice has been described as 'Classical public architecture with Italianate elements'. In 1911, the Builder magazine proclaimed that it 'will be one of the finest buildings in London'. More recently, after almost a century as a ministerial HQ, the building and its elegantly arched bridge over Scotland Place was acquired by Corinthia hotels. The grand façade and elegant proportions remain, but the interior has been totally transformed.

Originally devoted to public use, 10 Whitehall Place, next door to the luxurious Corinthia Hotel, is now devoted to just twelve households.

RESIDENTIAL RENEWAL BEHIND A CLASSICAL FAÇADE

Residents and their guests stepping through the elegant portal of 10 Whitehall Place will discover spaces and specifications devoted to ultra-luxurious, urbane living. A stunning penthouse and eleven grand apartments show what can be achieved with a single-minded vision to create the ultimate London address. The lavishly appointed apartments take 'spacious' to new extremes and 'quality' to a level rarely seen. At the same time, the opulence here is subtle and sophisticated. These residences are designed for discerning individuals who know that true luxury has no need to shout.

An impressive building transformed to meet the needs of individuals who are hard to impress.

A grand entrance

WELCOME TO CALM EFFICIENCY AND ELEGANCE

Stepping through the palatial entrance previously used by government ministers, residents of 10 Whitehall Place will be greeted by a member of the 24-hour Concierge team. Alternatively, they may drive into the secure car park and take the private high-security lift to the entrance hall or up to their apartment. The spacious, high-ceilinged entrance hall gives a foretaste of the effortless elegance to be found on the building's upper floors. A working fireplace stands between ebonised macassar panelled alcoves while bespoke furniture and lighting creates a welcoming air of comfortable grandeur. A tailor-made deep-pile rug stands on the floor of polished Botticino Italian marble.

The imposing double doors are crafted from burnished bronze and the metal balustrades have a matt-black finish.

Design inspiration

ELITE RESIDENCES REQUIRE ELITE DESIGNERS

The architecture and design at 10 Whitehall Place has been entrusted to specialists with world-class credentials. GA Design has a renowned reputation in the ultra-luxury hospitality sector. The firm has completed many prestigious projects, including the adjoining Corinthia Hotel and spa. Building on its success next door, the practice is creating the interiors of the penthouse occupying the upper two floors at 10 Whitehall Place. Goddard Littlefair, another internationally respected practice, is designing other apartments overlooking Whitehall Place. With impressive track records, both firms excel at their craft.

With flair and ingenuity, the designers take a bespoke, individual approach to each assignment.

The designers specify the highest quality materials and employ the most skilled artisans.

AT CORINTHIA, HOSPITALITY IS AN ART AND A CRAFT

A stroll through the adjoining Corinthia Hotel gives many clues to the artistry and creative talent employed within the residences. The lobby lift door panels are crafted from 12 unique metal alloys sanded and polished to feature the impressions of leaves gathered from local parks. Above the lobby lounge, a chandelier composed of 1001 crystal globes is a grand focal point. Created by Parisian designer Chafik Gasmi, the chandelier is produced by Baccarat, the prestigious French crystal manufacturer. Throughout the hotel, specially commissioned artworks link the historic building to the 21st century.

In the hotel's sumptuous Hamilton Suite, floral motif plaster moulding lines the wide, curved stairwell.

CARE AND CRAFTSMANSHIP WITHOUT COMPROMISE

Crafting the most desirable, most refined London residences takes skill, talent and commitment. To complement the large living spaces and high ceilings, world-class designers have specified the finest, most sought-after materials. All the doors are constructed from straight-grained ebonised macassar, highly polished to produce a mirror-like sheen. In the master bathrooms, the walls and floors are clad in Calacatta Oro marble slabs, individually selected at the Italian quarry. The floors are constructed from fumed, straight-grained oak or covered in deep-pile silk carpets. And in a masterly reinvention, the new gas-fueled fires connect to the original terracotta chimney pots.

The spa café complements the overall offering by serving 'Taste of Health' light, nutritious refreshments. Executive Chef Garry Hollihead, winner of Michelin stars at three different establishments, sources ingredients from a select group of artisanal suppliers he knows and trusts. The wine list features an extensive selection of organic and biodynamic wines, including award-winning English sparkling wines.

Open seven days a week with all-day dining options, the comfortable restaurant offers informal, accessible menus. Semi-private dining is available on a mezzanine level, where diners sit in a secluded area with views to the River Thames while sharing the ambience of the restaurant below. A private dining room seating 10-20 guests is set down a few steps behind thick curtains off the busy Northall Bar.

With a menu identifying each supplier, the Northall celebrates the breadth of British culinary strengths.

CREATIVE, CONTEMPORARY ITALIAN CUISINE

A private dining room with its own kitchen is a discreet sanctuary for up to 18 guests seated around one table.

With rich fabrics, fine marble and graceful lunettes, Massimo has an aura of grandeur and a sense of softness.

The Northhall Bar

A GRAND BAR FOR A GRAND HOTEL

The Northhall Bar is the place to meet for a glass of champagne, wine or beer or to sip an aperitif or classic cocktail. Satisfying appetites as well as quenching thirsts, the bar also serves sharing dishes of British cheeses and charcuterie. In line with this focus on British suppliers, the house gin and vodka is distilled in London and the beer is brewed a few miles downriver in Greenwich. As for the general ambiance, the bar has a relaxed, yet sophisticated air. The marble-topped island bar, standing between a pair of lofty columns, is an impressive focal point and the surrounding space is sociably stylish. Like the food, the area is arranged for sharing. Guests may sit at the bar or at loosely set brasserie-style tables.

The platinum silver-leaf ceiling has been skilfully burnished, lacquered and polished. Drinks are mixed with the same precision.

TAKING SPACE AND SOPHISTICATED TO NEW HEIGHTS

The penthouse at 10 Whitehall Place reaches previously unattainable levels of luxury. Spread over two expansive floors covering the entire building, it has been designed for exquisite living and elegant entertaining. At its heart is a dramatic two-storey atrium bathed in natural light and warmed by a working gas fire. Each floor has a living room opening onto a roof terrace or balcony and the accommodation includes a master bedroom featuring his and her bathrooms plus three further bedrooms with en-suite bathrooms. With roof terraces facing Trafalgar Square, Westminster and the London Eye, the views from the penthouse are as extraordinary as the voluptuous views within.

The Penthouse Sixth & Seventh Floors | 4 Bedrooms + 1 Staff Apartment

GROSS INTERNAL AREA: 753 SQ M / 8,105 SQ FT

The designer's triumphant conquest of space is evident throughout the penthouse. In particular, the spectacular atrium beneath a sliding glazed roof is a dominant feature. With a linear gas fireplace and a double-height chimneybreast clad in ebonised macassar, this internal courtyard leads to the dining room, drawing room and study area. Another pair of doors leads, via a hallway, to the master bedroom, while a stone stairway takes residents to the roof terrace and upper-level living room. Behind the scenes, the penthouse staff are also well catered for. Near the master kitchen and informal dining room, a service kitchen is equipped to meet the needs of a professional chef. From here, a dumb waiter takes dishes to the upper level kitchen and pantry. A staff bedroom with en suite bathroom is also provided.

The Penthouse

A spectacular double-height atrium is the focal point of the penthouse. Above the fireplace, contrasting with the ebonised macassar panelling, a tall charcoal drawing heightens the sense of space. The area is illuminated by a chandelier formed of long crystal rods arranged in a swirling spiral.

A harmonious blend of the classic and contemporary is evident throughout the penthouse. In the lower level living area, an air of timeless, understated luxury is achieved through the use of warm colours and rich textures. Two fireplaces enhance the welcoming ambiance.

The master bedroom is a haven of restrained opulence. From the fabric covered bed-head and base to the leather wrapped bedside tables, all is comfortably sensual. Creative touches include original art featuring silver butterflies above the bed and charging bulls in the study.

The penthouse design succeeds on all levels. Brass and nickel balustrades line the wide stairwell leading to a bright, airy seating area. This informal space, furnished with an L-shaped sofa and glass-topped brass tables, opens out onto a terrace revealing the famous London skyline.

The Penthouse

Greenery is plentiful on the terraces. Jasmine climbs the trelliswork, bay trees stand amid the seating and hedges create luxuriant borders.

Views from the penthouse roof terrace confirm the outstanding location of 10 Whitehall Place. Stepping out from the seventh floor living room, residents and their guests have a choice of vistas. Looking east towards the City of London, they will see the shimmering glass of the Shard, with the towers of the Canary Wharf financial district in the background. To the west, they will see the Palace of Westminster and 'Big Ben', the iconic symbol of London. Turning to the north, they will spy Admiral Horatio Nelson standing atop the column erected to mark his victory and heroic death at the Battle of Trafalgar.

On one elevated terrace, a six-person hot tub stands beside an intimate seating area arranged around a dramatic fire-pit. On another level, al fresco dining is provided from a kitchen serviced by a dumbwaiter. Controlled lighting, gas fires and candles illuminate the scene.
