The internal accommodation briefly comprises: Large front reception room with gas fireplace, alongside a second reception room to the rear. The kitchenette is compact but functional, fitted with a stainless steel sink and giving access to the rear yard. A good-sized cellar sits beneath the property, currently used for storage. The boiler installed in 2012 and most recently serviced this month.

To the first floor, there are two generous double bedrooms, both with built-in storage cupboards. The front bedroom features two sash windows with views over Hexham and the Moot Hall, as well as curled plaster detailing, while the rear bedroom overlooks the back aspect. A separate WC and sink are also provided, with scope to introduce a bath or shower if desired. Two loft spaces offer additional storage.

Externally, to the rear, there is a yard area and a large garage, which could be retained or removed to create a bigger garden or parking space. Beyond this lies an additional piece of land formerly part of the old goose market, which does not formally belong to the property but has potential for use as extra parking.
