

Upper Pentwyn Farm
Cwmyoy | Monmouthshire | NP7 7NU

The necessary consents were obtained, the property and its curtilage are Grade 11 listed, to link the house to the bake house and build garden room on the south elevation in place of the ruined stable building.

The result of what was a daunting rebuild is a unique family home, which thanks to the garden room takes full advantage of its stunning location.

SELLER INSIGHT

“Upper Pentwyn Farm really is an exceptional property. There are no records of the property ever coming on the open market, having previously changed hands through family succession and between neighbours. Two key elements combine to make it special. Firstly there is the dwelling itself which is full of character and a much loved and wonderful family home, secondly, the location, standing as it does in an elevated position on the favoured southern slopes of Hatterall Hill with the most glorious views of the Sugar Loaf and Skirrid Mountains, between them, the Usk valley to the Severn estuary and Somerset beyond. The property commands a truly wonderful prospect, arguably among the best in all of the Brecon Beacons (Bannau Brycheiniog) National Park.

One great advantage the property has is that despite its splendid rural location it is only fifteen minutes to the amenities in Abergavenny...and to Waitrose in Llanfoist! It is also part of a thriving rural community. The village of Cwmyoy has a very active social life with the village hall as its hub. There is a WI, a gardening club, a history society, dance classes, quizzes, the annual show at LLanthyon, with its associated hedging and walling competition, a regular New Year pantomime and so on. Even closer than Cwmyoy village hall is the one at Pandy which similarly hosts a variety of activities.

KEY FEATURES

- Unique stone Grade II Listed farmhouse with much charm and character
- Garden room with floor to ceiling windows framing the most spectacular views
- Rural, hillside location off Offa's Dyke path, only 10 minutes' drive to main A roads
- Enclosed farm yard with outbuildings including large stone barn with planning consent to convert first floor to ancillary accommodation
- All set in circa 33 acres comprising pasture and woodland
- A rare opportunity to live in such a beautiful location with breathtaking, panoramic views

GROUND FLOOR

Enter the farmhouse via an entrance hall/boot room with ample space for coats and boots, doors from the entrance hall lead to the kitchen and the inner hall with its feature bread oven and wooden staircase to the first floor. The kitchen is comprehensively fitted in a rustic style with natural wood cupboards and worktops, ceramic sink and flagstone floor. An Aga is fitted into an alcove with lights over, the beamed ceiling, exposed stone wall and brace and ledge doors add character to the room. A window to the side offers spectacular views across the garden and fields, a wooden door leads to the original stone spiral staircase, a secondary staircase to the first floor. Off the kitchen is a spacious walk in pantry and utility room/cloakroom. Also accessed from the kitchen is a snug with exposed stone wall, flagstone floor and beamed ceiling.

From the entrance porch/hall is a door to the interesting inner hall with the original bread oven, wooden staircase to the first floor and steps down to the garden room. The garden room is not only a comfortable space with its beamed ceiling and wooden floor but really does capture the stunning location with floor to ceiling windows affording panoramic views across open fields to the mountains beyond. A glazed door opens out to the garden with access to the fields beyond. Steps from the garden room lead to a study, again with much character and an ideal place to work whilst enjoying the views from a small window to the side.

The ground floor accommodation offers flexibility and versatility in terms of practicality and the use of space to allow both a family home with space for solitude and relaxing too.

FIRST FLOOR

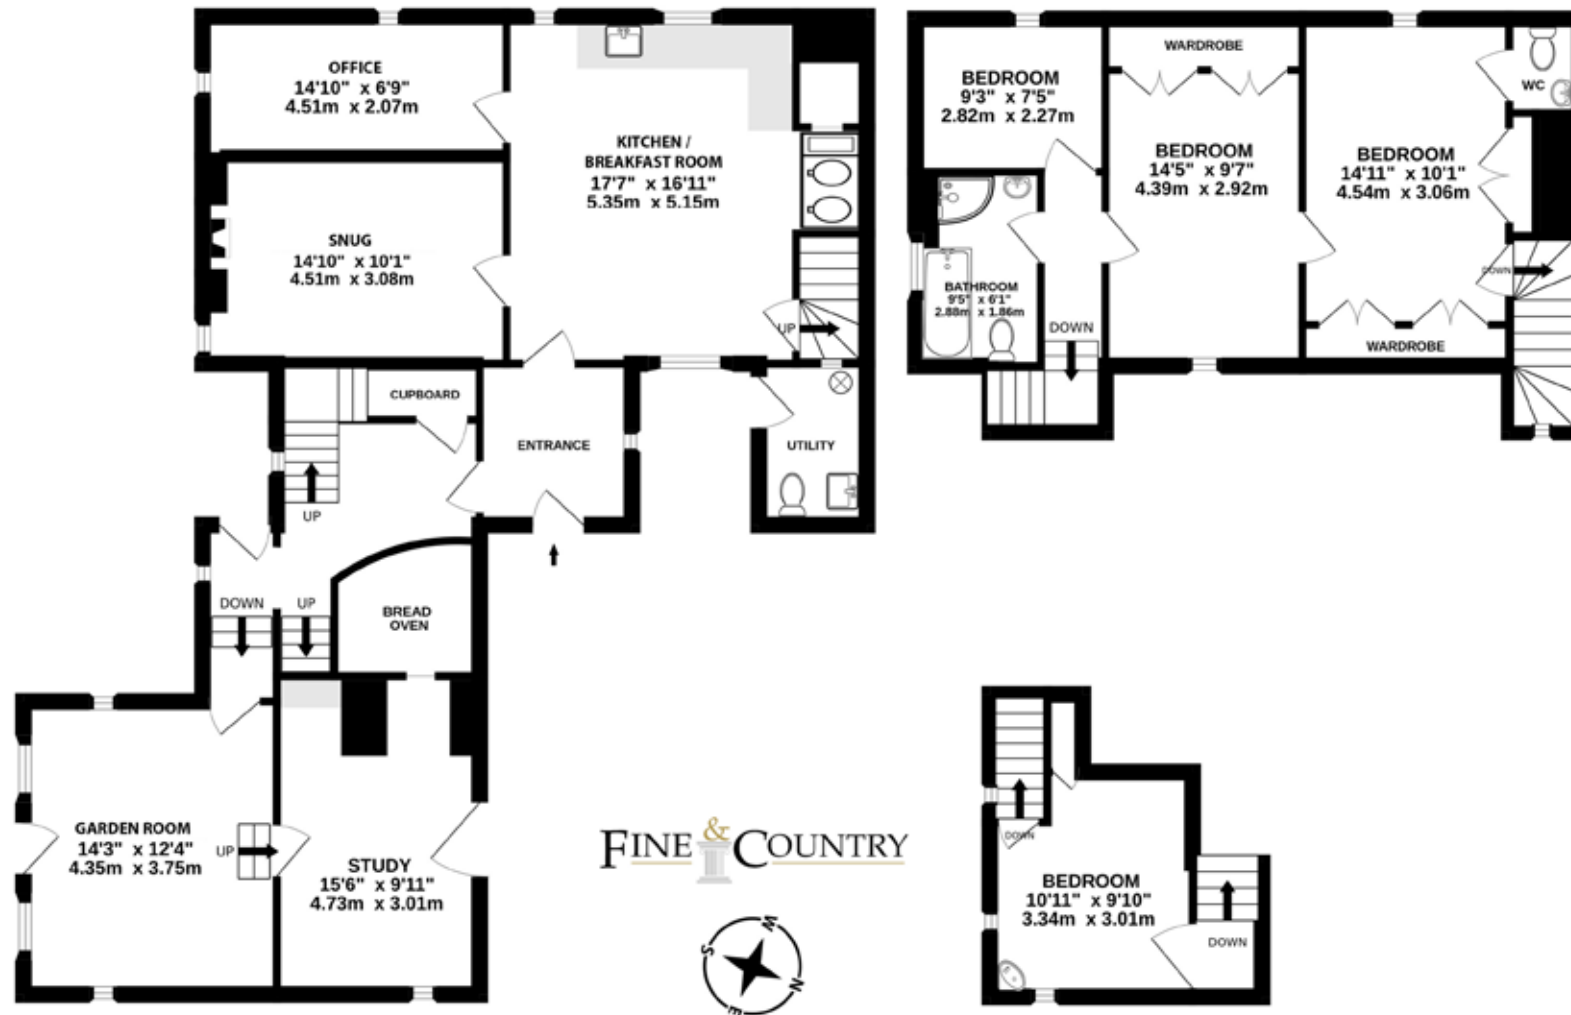

There are two staircases to the first floor, the original stone spiral staircase from the kitchen and the more modern wooden staircase rising from the inner hall. The character and charm continues to the first floor with many retained features including beamed ceilings, exposed stone walls and brace and ledge wooden doors. On the first floor are 3 bedrooms, one with an en-suite W.C. and a family bathroom. Steps lead to a fourth bedroom with a corner handbasin.

OUTSIDE

Immediately adjoining the house is a lawned garden, enclosed by a combination of fencing and stone walls which separates the garden from the fields and driveway. The garden has planted borders but is predominately natural lawn.

The present owners have carried out extensive tree planting and landscaping over the past twenty years as well as ensuring the fencing and stone walls have been kept in good order. Immediately below the house is an area of old bluebell woodland which in springtime, is a sea of blue. To the left looking down from the house is a natural pond which has been fenced and planted. Above the house are three new copses, the majority of the trees planted are native broadleaf such as cherry, crab apple, wild pear, sweet chestnut, hawthorn, hazel, beech, wild service tree, rowan, lime and oak. For added interest and colour, there are some exotics such as Himalayan Birch, American Red Oak, and Norway Maple. The guiding principle in all the planting has been to provide an ideal environment for birds and pollinators while at the same time creating an attractive landscape with a variety of spring blossoms and autumn colours.

Upper Pentwyn Farm has direct access to the Hatterrall Hill and Offas Dyke Path. From here as well as the southern panorama the views extend into Gloucestershire, to the Malverns and beyond. The area is perfect for outdoor activities including horse riding walking and mountain biking. When the wind is in the east hang gliders fly from here. Birdlife includes buzzards, red kites and ravens and the cuckoo is just one of many migrant birds that return to Upper Pentwyn each year. Being elevated, there are days when the property is in the cloud but the other side of this coin is that there are extraordinary winter days when there is an inversion. Then under the bluest of skies the property is bathed in brilliant sunshine while the land below is lost in thick cloud and the Sugar Loaf and Skirrid Mountains stand above it as fantastic islands.

Parking and Access: Access to the property is via country lanes/ single track roads from Llanvihangel Crucorney. whilst a four wheel drive vehicle is preferable, the track can be navigated by car, although during the winter months this may be a little challenging ! Tarmaced country lanes lead to the mountain track, which is circa 1 mile from the property and is easily navigable to the private track and farmyard belonging to Upper Pentwyn Farm.

OUTBUILDINGS

Complementing the farmhouse is the enclosed farmyard and stone agricultural buildings. A large former threshing barn...that is to say it is side on to the prevailing winds, has double doors to the roof and a stone slabbed floor between the doors. Here the grain crop was stored and when the wind was blowing 'threshed' by beating it with a flail to shake the grain out from the ears. This barn was in a poor state back in 2000, one section of wall had to be completely rebuilt. It needed pointing inside and out. Then in about 2014 the old iron roof was removed and an A frame roof installed under a Welsh slate. The newly created loft area was then boarded and skylights inserted to create a wonderful amenity area. The barn has potential to use as ancillary accommodation, a studio or simply a party/leisure barn. Planning consent was granted by Brecon Beacons National Park on 3rd November 2022 under reference 21/19952/FUL to convert the first floor of the threshing barn, accessed via an external staircase, to ancillary accommodation to the farmhouse. Whilst the conversion has commenced, not all the works have been implemented, including the installation of a wide mullioned window in the loft's southern end which will take full advantage of the views.

The adjoining small barn was a beast house when the property was a working farm, hence the three doorways, the middle one of which was infilled many years ago...certainly before the listing in 1998. This barn also has a first floor which has been used for storage. The entire gable end was rebuilt in 2001/2. The barn has a doorway on its far side which gives access to an impressive walled enclosure which would be ideal for animals or as a garden.

LAND

The garden and grounds extend to circa 33 acres and include woodland, five good pasture fields, the formal garden immediately around the house and a natural pond. The views from the land are just spectacular and would be ideal, subject to any necessary planning consents, for a Shepherd's Hut or two

LOCAL AREA

The nearby village of Cwmyoy offers a public house, a beautiful church and village hall. The historic Llanthony Priory is approximately 2.5 miles away and all along the valley are the most outstanding views and landscapes. The well-known 'book town' of Hay on Wye is some 14 miles away and offers not only a wide range of book shops but a number of individual shops, public houses and restaurants. The picturesque Powys town of Crickhowell which lies on the banks of the River Usk is some 13 miles away. The larger, historic market town of Abergavenny is approximately 8 miles and offers a range of amenities including doctors, dentists, library, high street retailers and individual shops, banks, cinema and supermarkets together with a general hospital. The town is now well known for its many high quality restaurants and the Annual Food Festival. The village of Llanvihangel Crucorney, approximately 2.5 miles, offers a local inn which is reputed to be the oldest pub in Wales, a garage, shop, a primary school and access to the A465 Hereford Road. The A465 links to the A40 and A449 at Abergavenny which in turn link to the M5/M4 and M50 Motorway networks. Main line railway stations can be found in Abergavenny and the City of Hereford.

Ben started his career in lettings before transferring over to property sales when he was asked to head up an office in Monmouthshire. As a business, we pride ourselves on the quality of our marketing, our attention to detail, passion for customer service and our experience not only to find a buyer for a property but to see the transaction through to completion. Estate Agency is a changing world, we are very forward thinking, embrace change and strive to be ahead of the curve. Being part of Fine & Country offers the best of both worlds – a global company with outstanding marketing and social media presence combined with intimate knowledge of the local area and a showroom situated in a prime location in Abergavenny. Outside of the business, my leisure time is spent running up a local mountain, in the gym or enjoying outdoor activities with my two young children.
