

Tydd is a small, picturesque village located near Wisbech on the border of Cambridgeshire and Lincolnshire. It comprises two adjoining villages - Tydd St Mary and Tydd St Giles - each offering a charming rural setting surrounded by open countryside. Known for its tranquil atmosphere, Tydd is popular with those seeking a quieter pace of life while still being within easy reach of the market town of Wisbech and the nearby Fenland towns.

If this charming property could potentially allow you to achieve your property dreams, contact us to arrange a convenient viewing!

Prepare to be wowed by the outside of the property, as it boasts idyllic established grounds comprising shrubs, bushes and woodland. A haven for wildlife such as birds, deer, rabbits and badgers, you really can experience nature at its finest. Mixed in with the un-spoilt grounds are modern conveniences such as an enclosed area with a concrete base which extends from the sun room and utility room. Ideal for positioning outdoor furniture so that you can immerse yourself in the garden views. Positioned within the grounds are several outbuildings including a double garage, barn, kennels and a static caravan, all offering potential for multiple uses.

Upstairs, the 3 genuine double bedrooms are serviced by a spa bath, and a small but convenient office provides space to work from home, or could potentially be converted to an en-suite in the future.

Downstairs, the property offers a living room with a multi-fuel burner and a sun room off, a fitted kitchen/breakfast room with a separate pantry, a generous utility room with a shower room off, and a dual-aspect dining room which is currently utilised as bedroom 4.

Accessed via a private track, and set on a 1.25 acre plot, this 3-bedroom detached house will appeal to those looking to make a home in a peaceful rural location with no near neighbours.
