Tomoland

Location & Description

Redmarley is a sought after village approximately 7 miles from the market town of Ledbury, approximately 12 miles from the city of Gloucester and approximately 16 miles from Cheltenham. Within the village there is a church, village hall, Redmarley Primary Academy school, tennis and cricket club, and nearby the Rose & Crown public house. There are school buses to John Masefield, Ledbury and Newent Community secondary schools and a shop/post office 3 miles away at Bromsberrow Heath. The nearby town of Ledbury is easily accessible and has an excellent range of facilities including a main line railway station with trains to Hereford, Worcester, Birmingham, London Paddington and Oxford. The M50 motorway is 1 mile distant bringing Birmingham airport, the Midlands, South Wales and the South West within each reach.

Property Description

Situated in an idyllic rural location with views across rolling countryside, Tomoland is of attractive brick construction under a pitched slate roof and set in approx. 5.6 acres of pastureland.

The current owners have completed some renovations on the house to create an attractive open plan kitchen living room with oil fired Aga, exposed timbers and beams and tiled floor. Adjacent to the kitchen is a most useful utility area with separate cloaks and w.c. Accessed from the central hallway is a UPVC conservatory with double opening French doors giving access into the gardens and views across the property's adjacent paddocks.

To the ground floor is the 12' living room with a feature fireplace and inset wood burning stove. Windows to the front elevation make this a light and welcoming room and again provide views across the paddocks.

To the first floor and accessed via the attractive staircase with wrought iron balustrade are three bedrooms, the two larger bedrooms accessed from the upper landing with the smaller bedroom being situated on the lower landing together with the recently refitted bathroom.

Opposite the house is a substantial and most useful brick building currently used as stables with the upper floor accessed via external steps being used as an office. Alongside is a further storage area together with a large open fronted metal framed barn, ideal for hay storage or machinery.

Positioned nearby is a steel framed barn with roller doors to both ends with lighting and electric.

The three fenced paddocks are adjacent to the property and can be accessed either directly from the quiet lane or from the property itself and extend to approx. 5 acres. The surrounding area provides fabulous riding out, ideal for anyone looking for an equestrian property.

For those concerned with strategic location Tomoland is less than a mile from the A417 giving direct access to the M50/M5 motorways. Gloucester, Ledbury and Cheltenham are close by providing a wide selection of shops, restaurants and entertainment facilities, and London Paddington can be reached in less than 2 hours.

Situated close to the Herefordshire, Gloucestershire border is the historic and well regarded village of Red Marley. The village dates from pre Norman times when it was a battlefield during the Civil War. Within the village is a popular primary school, St Bartholomews Church, an active village hall together with a pub. Nearby is the market town of Ledbury with a wider range of facilities, whilst the Cathedral city of Gloucester is within easy access, as are Malvern and Cheltenham which offer exceptional schooling options.
