A detached cottage set within 0.25 acres Including an adjoining 1.63 acre woodland. Set within the scenic tranquillity of Brereton and directly opposite Brereton Heath Country Park, this detached cottage represents an exceptional opportunity to acquire a rural home with an exceptional location and outstanding potential. Having remained in the same family since the 1960s, the property carries a heritage which is ripe for further development into a magnificent family home. Adjoining open fields to the rear with expansive countryside views, it offers the rare combination of privacy and areas of natural beauty, all upon your doorstep.

Approached via a gated private driveway upon a country road, the cottage immediately sets out its character. Its traditional façade, enhanced by a white rendered exterior and a generous sized plot allow visions of extending or even development subject to approval. The vendors has recently partaken in a thoughtful partial refurbishment. This work has prepared the home for immediate occupation, delivering comfortable day one living, while still leaving scope for further modernisation, allowing buyers to bring their own vision to the next phase of its evolution. As previously mentioned, the property also presents excellent potential for extension or reconfiguration.

Inside, the layout currently offers two reception rooms with exposed beams, countryside outlooks and a solid-fuel stove that provides a timeless focal point. The kitchen, although quaint, offers a newly and ready to use workspace. On the first floor, two double bedrooms each with fabulous views. There is also a family bathroom to the first floor.

Externally, the land offering significantly elevates the property's strategic appeal. Alongside generous gardens and mature boundaries of approximately 0.25 acres the site includes approximately 1.63 acres of adjoining woodland held under a separate title. This additional land broadens the lifestyle possibilities considerably from leisure use and biodiversity interest. Thanks to the size and structure of the overall plot, there is also the potential, subject to the necessary consents, for an additional dwelling, positioning the property as an exciting multi generational or investment led proposition.

The location further strengthens the home's market position. Despite its peaceful rural setting, the property offers excellent connectivity, with Holmes Chapel, Knutsford and the M6 motorway network all close at hand. This ensures convenient access to regional employment hubs, transport links and leisure amenities while still enjoying the full benefits of countryside living.

The property enjoys a superb position directly opposite Brereton Heath Country Park which spans over 50 acres of woodland, meadows and open water, centred around its well-known Brereton Pool. This highly regarded parkland offers a rare blend of tranquillity, outdoor recreation, and scenic beauty, quite literally on your doorstep.

For equestrian buyers, the offering is particularly compelling. The property sits adjacent to Crossmere Livery placing high-quality facilities quite literally on the doorstep. The area also benefits from the renowned Somerford Park Equestrian Centre, a leading destination for riders, training and competition.

Externally, sweeping gardens, open views, ample parking and charming features such as the original brick well strengthen the property's rural identity. The result is a distinctive, heritage-rich offering that blends immediate habitability with extensive scope for future value creation.

In summary, offered with no upward chain this is a rare opportunity to secure a property within this price point and location immediate move-in capability and significant development potential. Whether approached as a lifestyle retreat, a renovation project or a strategic investment, the cottage stands as an exceptional foothold within one of Brereton most picturesque and well-connected rural settings.
