

VICIS NOVA

Ulverscroft Road, SE22
£1,500,000

Victorian home with an EPC Rating of B...

Following an extensive back-to-brick renovation after countless years of being tenanted, this four-bedroom East Dulwich house has been incredibly redesigned to provide a contemporary living experience in the heart of SE22.

Behind the gorgeous period façade, you'll find an unusually wide hallway for a Victorian terrace home as the current owner removed the pre-existing wall and moved it 6 inches to the right to allow for a more spacious entryway. Walking into the kitchen/ living space you're immediately presented with an incredible exposed-brick wall comprised of original London Stock Bricks, making a feature out of its period heritage. Hosting comes naturally here – open the bifolds to allow for a seamless transition into the suntrap garden for indoor/outdoor entertaining or you can utilise the double reception room with marble fireplaces for a more intimate experience.

Heading upstairs you've got three bedrooms all with newly laid & fitted carpets and a 3-piece family bathroom with underfloor heating. Moving up to the top floor you have the master suite with access to an abundance of storage in the eaves, a large ensuite shower room (underfloor heating once more) and walk-in wardrobe.

Location

Ulverscroft Road is centrally located in East Dulwich just off Lordship Lane which is renowned for its plethora of independent boutiques & cafes, coveted restaurants and the North Cross Market every Saturday – showcasing SE22's commitment to the local community.

Natural tranquillity comes in the form of Dulwich Park through which you'll reach the quiet elegance of Dulwich Village, replete with even more independent delis, cafes and truly stunning period architecture.

Dine at Rocca or Olivelli's if you're in the mood for some authentic Italian food or perhaps Chilli & Garlic if you're after a quick Mediterranean snack just before heading to the Dulwich Picture Gallery to admire works from Canaletto, Rembrandt & many more.
