Situation

Surrounded by rolling farmland, the historic village of Redmarley is situated on the Gloucestershire/ Herefordshire borders, a short drive from the popular market town of Ledbury and within a 25-30 minutes drive of Cheltenham or Worcester. The village itself dates to pre-Norman times when it was a battlefield for a Civil War encounter during the siege of Gloucester.

Redmarley benefits from having a popular primary school, Church, village hall, tennis club and sports field, a wellsupported cricket club and a public house. The neighbouring village of Staunton (1 mile) also has a Primary school, community pub, doctors, car garages and a village store.

The nearby market town of Ledbury provides a wider range of amenities whilst the Cathedral city of Gloucester, renowned for its historic docks, is now a popular outlet shopping outlet village. Malvern and Cheltenham provide a range of excellent schooling options, the latter, also known as the heart of the Cotswolds is also a regional focal point for recreational facilities, a wide array of shopping, cultural festivals and a variety of restaurants.

Chapel Farm

Occupying an elevated position and surrounded by rolling farmland, Chapel Farm is in an idyllic rural setting with a high degree of privacy. It offers beautiful unspoiled views over land that accompanies the property with distant views of the Cotswolds.

Sitting prominently on the brow of a hill and approached via a long tree lined drive, the house is surrounded by extensive gardens and grounds, with a good range of ancillary outbuildings both traditional and modern. The stable yard includes the original coach house and stables that are subject to the balance of an historic residential uplift clause.

The gardens, pasture and yards that surround the property extend to around 48 acres.

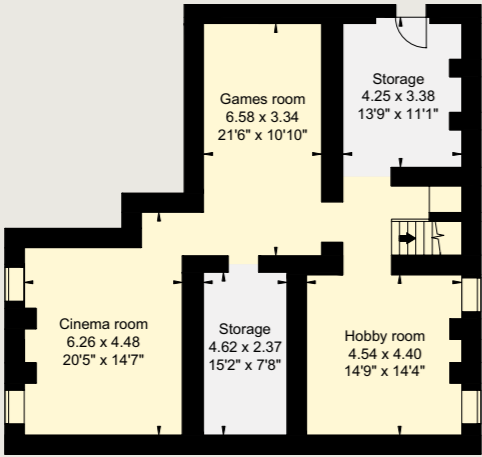

Extending to approximately 6,524 square feet, the house is arranged over two floors with a complete cellarage underneath. Not historically listed, it has seen significant alterations over the past 20 years during which time, the property has been renovated across the ground and first floors. The cellarage is extensive and with good head height, it offers great potential.
