

Mystra, Prestbury Lane, Prestbury, Cheshire SK10 4HF

'Mystra' is situated in the heart of Prestbury Village, and a 'cocks stride' from all the restaurants, bars and other amenities including Prestbury Railway Station. It is this location that makes it such an attractive proposition, and we are all aware of that famous phrase from Conrad Hilton when asked about the success of his hotel chain, 'Location, Location, Location.'

The property is now at the stage, however, whereby a comprehensive revamp and modernisation program is required. This does, however, give the purchaser the chance to adapt, amend and alter the layout and accommodation to their own requirements. It is a big job to undertake, however, and not for the fainthearted, but the results could be spectacular.

Prestbury, a historic village in Cheshire, is renowned for its charming architecture, particularly its black-and-white timbered buildings, and its desirable location within Cheshire's "Golden Triangle". A prominent feature is St. Peter's Church, a Grade I listed building with a rich history. The village is also known for its proximity to Macclesfield and its easy access to the Peak District National Park, offering both historical and natural attractions.

Macclesfield is a thriving business centre and market town with excellent local amenities and a choice of modern leisure and sports facilities. The town is situated on the Cheshire Plain, at the edge of the Peak District National Park with its picturesque beauty and extensive walks.

From the centre of Prestbury, leave in an easterly direction passing the railway station on the right-hand side. Proceed over the bridge, and after 100 metres, 'Mystra' can be accessed via a driveway on the right-hand side.
