Property Description

Dating back to the 1840s, Palace Mill forms part of the original Mill House located on Kate Brook in Chudleigh. It is one of seven original mills that served the town. This unique and historic family home offers versatile living accommodation full of character. The Old Mill House sits at the bottom of Rock Road and forms the frontage of a terrace with two other converted mill buildings behind. Positioned next to Kate Brook, with a backdrop of farmland, hillside trees and the old Rock Quarry, gives it a distinctive rural feel, but is only a short walk to the town centre and local amenities.

The charming cottage garden has iron railings and is surrounded by a stone wall with mature hedging, providing both privacy and views. The two iron gates give access to Rock Road from the central front door or the kitchen/porch entrance to the side. The garden has a patio seating area at the front with an additional space to the side, which is a natural sun trap. The other side of the house has a garage and parking space. Adjacent to the garage are granite steps, protected by another iron gate, that lead down to the lower ground floor. This gives an alternative access to the house.

The stone archway beneath the front door provides partial cover to the passage below. A short walk away is the terraced "wild garden" - a tranquil and secluded area that leads down to Kate Brook, providing a lovely spot for family picnics and access to the brook. An additional parking space is available.
