The historic village of Benson is situated in the heart of southern Oxfordshire. Located close to the banks of the River Thames, Benson was formerly an important coaching post on the main London to Oxford trunk road. The village has an active community, with amenities include range of shops, village primary school and public houses and restaurants.

The main-line train station at Cholsey (5 miles) is a major advantage of the area, giving access to London Paddington, Reading, Oxford and the West Country. The nearby market town of Wallingford (3 miles) has an excellent range of amenities including a Waitrose supermarket, independent shops, banks, restaurants, Wallingford's local produce market and other leisure facilities such as a thriving theatre and a highly rated secondary school.
