The Long House Low Road, Alburgh Harleston

This stunning Grade II listed period house in Harleston offers original features and spacious living, including a beautiful kitchen with an AGA cooker, four large bedrooms, and a luxurious family bathroom. Set on a 0.46-acre plot with large gardens, a garage, and off-road parking.

Description

Nestled within Alburgh Harleston, this stunning Grade II listed period house offers a rare opportunity to own a piece of history while enjoying modern comforts. Set back from the road on a generous 0.46-acre plot, the property boasts large, beautifully maintained gardens to the front and rear, creating a tranquil, private setting.

As you step inside, you are greeted by an entrance hall that exudes character, with original features that highlight the property's timeless charm. The downstairs space is thoughtfully laid out, with a spacious lounge that offers a cosy yet elegant setting, perfect for family gatherings or quiet evenings. The dining room flows seamlessly into the kitchen. The kitchen offers a beautiful AGA cooker and integrated dishwasher add both style and practicality, while the utility room and sunroom offer added convenience and space. The downstairs also includes a convenient W/C, ensuring comfort and ease for family and guests.

Upstairs, the property boasts four generously sized bedrooms, each with their own character and charm. The primary bedroom benefits from an ensuite bathroom. A family bathroom, complete with a free-standing bathtub, offers a luxurious space to relax and unwind.

Outside, the extensive gardens provide the perfect backdrop for outdoor living, whether you wish to enjoy the sun or host gatherings with friends and family. The property is complemented by a garage and ample space for additional parking.

Set on a peaceful plot, this beautiful period house offers the perfect balance of historical elegance and modern-day convenience.
